

SL: Here, The last piece you could add to complete your business.

Hello Ktmdesign,

I noticed your Instagram video with Katie about the Flamengo Cafe project, and it truly intrigued me to witness how you treat your customers and share your life journey with them.

Your message resonated with me, and I've thoroughly explored your website. I'm considering the substantial number of people visiting your website every day, I wonder why you haven't created a landing page yet, where you can provide a free gift to your visitors in exchange for their email addresses.

As you might know, collecting more email addresses enables you to directly reach out and assist people in getting more serious about improving their spaces or design skills.

I have a specific idea for the kind of landing page that would work well on your website. I've attached it below for your consideration.

This strategy has been successfully tested in almost every industry and can significantly benefit your business.

If you like the idea, I also have a few other ideas that could be used to keep you always one step ahead of your competition.

Thanks,

Akshay

Judge for yourself 👉