This document contains the list of course reserve textbooks that publishers are making available for free in e-book format as a response to COVID-19. The e-books are available to students through May 25th, 2020. The catalogs require the student to create an account (with the exception of Openstax).

On the left side of this document you will see an outline for navigation. If you don't, click on the small grey icon located at the top left corner of the document.

The items in all caps and bold will take you to the section with a link to the catalog or site and instructions on how to access the material. To find your course textbook:

- Look for your class subject in the outline. When you click on it, it will bring you to the section of the courses and the books that are available under that particular catalog.
- You can also use the search function (CTRL-F) to search for your course code or the title of the book.

OPEN LIBRARY (Internet Archive)

<https://openlibrary.org/>

Make an account by clicking the blue button that says "Sign Up" at the top right corner of the page. Click on the title of the book and the link will direct you to the page where you can access it.

OPENSTAX

<https://openstax.org/>

OpenStax is a provider of openly-licensed textbooks, which are free for students even during normal times. They make their books available as PDFs, as well as in a format readable in a standard web browser. No logins are required to view or download OpenStax books.

RED SHELF

<https://studentresponse.redshelf.com/>

When you log in you can search for the book title or the ISBN number. This will take you directly to the text instead of searching by title and having to browse through books. You are able to use up to 7 books, you can access the book by clicking on the blue tab next to the book that says "View Details".

VITAL SOURCE

This is a general link to the website: <https://get.vitalsource.com/vitalsource-helps>

This link will show you how to create an account to access the e-books.

<https://support.vitalsource.com/hc/en-us/articles/360020563694-Create-an-Account>

When you log in you can search for the book title or the VBID number. I would recommend searching by VBID number, which is listed under each book title. This will take you directly to the text instead of searching by title and having to browse through books. You are able to use up to 7 books, you can access the book by hovering over the image and clicking "Borrow". You may also click on the image for a description of the text and then click the blue button that says "Borrow".
