

The concrete sways beneath my feet.
The night is cold,
The air is sweet.

With eyes turned outward to the sky,
I spread my wings,
And learn to fly.