◆ MORE ABOUT KIT CORAIL ◆

→ Kit is the main character of The follower.

Calm and introverted by nature, Kit prefers loneliness and doesn't seem to see the point in making connections with others. He's a really frank character that people could even consider "rude" for his habit of saying what he thinks with -as he says himself- a logical reasoning and open criticism.

Being a big thinker, Kit is constantly questioning the world around him, which connects to his curious nature. He's still respectful of others (if they don't piss him off) and wishes to learn more about them.

AND IF WE GO FURTHER ?

He's a self centered character that could be seen as egocentric, his standpoint being that people should prioritize themselves, as no one will do it for them. He also tends to think of himself as out of norms and more logical than others.

Voice: Androgynous and quite expressionless.
Can turn irritating if he's pissed about something or tries to provoke someone.

Lines:

-(irritated, almost sad) "Because my life shouldn't be like that. I don't feel like I belong here. Maybe you guys are fine with that game, those tasks every day. That's not how I want to live."
-(neutral) "It's been a while since I went here... no one really passes by anymore. It's almost left to rot... but still really pretty though."
