
Diego G.

"Outdoorsy Adventurer Seeking Partner for Life's Journey

San Francisco / San Jose / Morgan Hill

At 41, I've rekindled my love for the great outdoors – whether it's casting a line into a serene ocean or pitching a tent under a starlit sky, count me in. After a 15-year relationship, I've spent the past year and three months rediscovering myself, diving into books, and embracing the peace of meditation. Sobriety has become a pillar of my personal growth journey, and I'm committed to living my best life. 100%

Music pulses through my veins, and I thrive on the energy of live concerts and festivals. But beyond the beats, I'm searching for someone to share in life's highs and lows. Whether we're cracking up at a comedy show or cuddling up for a scare with a good horror flick, I believe in making every moment count.

If you're ready to embark on an adventure of a lifetime – filled with laughter, love, and endless possibilities – let's connect and see where the journey takes us.

I'm Looking for a caring, confident woman with a sense of humor. If you like the outdoors, traveling is always a plus. I'm more attracted to your personality and who you are as a woman. Looks fade away and go away, your attitude toward life makes you for you.

I disable social media, I want to start meeting people with adventures, not viewing them through apps.

Feel free to contact me at vt7846@gmail.com