

AAVE Bible Concordance Privacy Policy

Last updated: May 1, 2026

This Privacy Policy describes how AAVE Bible Concordance ("we," "us," or "our") collects, uses, and shares your information when you use our mobile application and our website located at <https://officialaavebible.com>.

1. Overview

AAVE Bible Concordance is designed to facilitate Bible study and community engagement through Scripture reading, commentary, personal notes, and interactive features such as quizzes and leaderboards.

Our commitment is to prioritize your privacy by minimizing data collection and ensuring that core reading features remain accessible without extensive account requirements.

2. Information Collection

2.1 Account and Profile Information

To provide a personalized experience, we may process the following if you choose to create an account:

- Your display name or first name.
- A unique, anonymous identifier generated through Firebase Authentication.
- Authentication data provided via Sign in with Apple.

This information allows us to maintain your profile and display your progress on community leaderboards.

2.2 Activity and Engagement Data

When you participate in quizzes or use the leaderboard, we may store:

- User identifiers and quiz scores.
- Timestamps of your activity.
- Leaderboard grouping fields and display names.

This data is used to showcase your achievements and foster a community study environment.

2.3 Technical and Diagnostic Data

We use industry-standard tools like Firebase Analytics and FullStory to collect diagnostic telemetry. This includes app interaction data and device information, which helps us understand feature usage and improve app stability.

2.4 Local On-Device Data

To ensure a seamless and offline-capable experience, the following information is stored locally on your device:

- Bookmarks and verse notes.
- Reading history and progress.
- In-app preferences, including notification and display settings.

Local data remains on your device and is used to personalize your study sessions.

3. Use of Information

We do not sell your personal information. We use the data we collect to:

- Provide and maintain our services, including user authentication.
- Enable community features like leaderboards.
- Send administrative reminders and push notifications (where permitted).
- Monitor and improve app performance and user experience.

4. Third-Party Service Providers

We partner with third-party services to provide essential functionality. These include Firebase (for authentication, database, and messaging), FullStory (for analytics), and labs.bible.org (for Scripture content). We encourage you to review their respective privacy policies.

5. Children's Privacy

AAVE Bible Concordance is a general audience product and does not knowingly collect personal information from children under the age of 13.

6. Data Retention and Your Choices

Cloud-based data is retained as long as necessary for operational purposes. You can manage your information by:

- Disabling notifications via your device settings.
- Updating or removing your display name within the app profile settings.
- Deleting the app to clear all local on-device data.
