

This is the introduction your character will share once you meet the other adventurers at the start of the campaign.

Write a five-sentence (MAXIMUM. Keep it short) introduction for your character ("Hi, my name is...").

THINGS TO INCLUDE (check off once complete):

- Name and/or nickname
- Make statements implying what the character looks like. For example, a character saying "I may only reach your kneecaps, but I'm the only one in my clan whose beard touches my toes!" suggests that the character is most likely a dwarf (short) who is older than most (long beard).
- What is your character good at? ("I can fell a full-grown tree with a single swing.")
- What is your character carrying while on patrol? Saying, "I can shoot a hawk in flight on a windy day" suggests archery equipment of some sort (and incredible skill).
- How does your character feel about being scheduled for patrol the day after dangerous ice trolls were found in the area? "Just my luck to be on patrol the day those nasty beasts are spotted. I hope we don't run into any!"
