

♥Deskyl's Commission Terms of Service♥

1. Status Updates: You can easily check the progress of your artwork on my front page, where I regularly update the status with time and date stamps! Look for it in the "journals" section as my featured journal.
2. Payment: Before I start on your artwork, I ask that you pay in full. This helps ensure that the process goes smoothly for both of us. Please remember to choose "services rendered" when making your payment. If you select the "friends and family" option, which doesn't allow for disputes, I may feel uneasy continuing the transaction.
3. Revisions: I generally do not offer approvals or revisions (see section 7 for exceptions) to keep the process streamlined and focused. However, if you'd like to explore different ideas, individual sketches can be purchased separately, and your favorite version can be finished for the price difference.
4. Saving Your Work: Once your artwork is completed, make sure to collect it from my gallery and save it to your device. If your work is removed from my devices or gallery before you download it, I may not be able to retrieve it for you.
5. Respectful Interaction: I am committed to providing a positive experience for both of us. If I encounter any behavior that feels abusive, harassing, or deceitful, I may need to discontinue the work without a refund. Notably, any romantic or sexual advances will be treated as harassment regardless of intent. I appreciate your understanding in maintaining a respectful environment.
6. Original Style: I create art in my unique style, so if you request a MLP fan character, for example, it will be drawn in the style of Gribby Bullock, not Lauren Faust. Please keep this in mind before placing your order!
7. Creative Interpretation: I strive to help bring your vision to life, but please note that the final artwork may differ from your mental image due to the natural limitations of artistic interpretation and the human mind. Your understanding is greatly appreciated!
8. Design Changes: If you'd like to request design-related changes, please provide any relevant references or descriptions. Minor adjustments like eye color or small details are usually easy to fix, and I'll let you know if there's any additional fee involved.
9. Artwork Ownership: While the character belongs to you, the artwork itself and the creative process behind it remain my intellectual property. You're welcome to share and redraw your character, but please credit the original artwork to me.
10. Free Assets: Any assets I create for public use can be freely shared, as long as they remain free for everyone.
11. Adoptable Characters: Please note that expressing intent to purchase a character doesn't count as a purchase. Any use of adoptable characters before payment is completed will be considered unauthorized.
