

A review

The assignment is to write a review about an English spoken television programme you watched recently. In it:

- mention the moment you watched the programme;
- give the title of the programme;
- give a description of the programme without giving your opinion;
- describe what you did and did not like about the programme, giving arguments;
- give your judgement: should we watch it?

Compare your review with some class mates, give and receive comments, revise your work and hand it in for grading. Use between 200 and 300 words.

Here you can write your review about an English spoken television programme you watched recently.