

Ngā Mātāpono o Te Kawa o Te Ako

Culture: Student-Friendly Deep Learning Progression

Te Reo is a treasure given to us by our ancestors. It's super important because it helps us understand how they saw the world. We need to learn, protect, and share it.

Dimension	Limited Evidence	Emerging	Developing	Accelerating	Proficient
Te Reo me ōna Tikanga: learning, protecting, and sharing this treasure from the ancestors.	I don't use Te Reo much beyond basic greetings and group karakia.	I'm learning some Te Reo words and waiata and can introduce myself in Māori, saying my pepeha.	I'm gaining confidence in using Te Reo and am learning words and sentence structures to read and write basic ideas. I can participate in haka, waiata, and traditional moteatea.	I'm good at using Te Reo to communicate. I know some common sayings and I can understand the differences between dialects. I participate confidently in haka, waiata and moteatea.	I can use Te Reo confidently in various situations and understand different dialects. I know common sayings and traditional stories. I participate confidently in haka, waiata and moteatea and can take a leading role where appropriate.