

SAUSAGE TREE CAMP

LOWER ZAMBEZI

Sausage Tree Camp is the epitome of bush chic, set in a stunning location along the Zambezi River at the heart of the Lower Zambezi National Park. The pristine location and Sausage Tree Camp offer all the game, all the luxury without all the people! Accommodation is in luxurious white Bedouin style tents, completely rebuilt in 2008 to the highest of standards. Tents are generously spaced along the Zambezi River bank allowing the elephants to amble in between. Local materials create a minimalist style in which the teak furniture, including sumptuous four-poster beds, contrasts with pure white fabrics and flowing mosquito nets. Nearly hidden from one another, and shaded by mature Sausage and Mahogany trees, the tents are cool, private sanctuaries to return to for an afternoon siesta or good night's rest.

ACCESS DETAILS

To/From Lusaka

- The majority of our guests fly by Cessna caravan (30 mins.) to "Jeki" airstrip, a dirt airstrip in the middle of the National Park. It is then a 1 hour game-drive/transfer through the park to Sausage Tree Camp. The other more adventurous option is the road and boat transfer from Lusaka. This consists of a 2 ½ hr drive to Chirundu, a border town on the Zambezi River. From here you can transfer into one of our speed boats for a stunningly scenic boat cruise down the Zambezi, to Sausage Tree Camp, a further 2 ½ hrs. Depending on numbers (i.e. less than 4 people), this option is not likely to be the cheapest.

To/From Livingstone

- A direct charter will take about 1hr 45 mins to Jeki. A more economical option is to fly via Lusaka.

To/From Mfuwe

- Mfuwe is the main airport servicing the South Luangwa National Park and is about a 1hr 45min direct flight to Jeki.
