Subject line: A life Changing Decision

Do-or-die decisions like this can result in 2 situations.

I became financially free and finally quit my job.

After years of working for a corporation, waking up to my alarm each day, without real purpose, to show up on time to my office.

Struggling to get a pay raise, and working hard to enrich my higher-up's pockets, every day was the same nightmare.

I couldn't speak up my mind since I couldn't risk that my thoughts would result in losing my job - my only source of income, which without it I couldn't pay the bills.

With a boss breathing at my neck, criticizing my every move, ordering me around.

I've had enough.

Risking my current life, risking losing my only source of income could lead to ruin,

I made a decision to find a way to become my own boss, a way to become financially free, so I could finally quit my job.

Thankfully, I found the knowledge that allowed me to do just that in 6 months.
