

1. work time being a waste of time, and my role as policemen rather than a helper
2. the wrappers, crackers, papers, and other junk left on the floor & tables & cubbies
3. people asking me what the homework is or what we're doing in class on a day
4. the incomplete vocab entries, the missing work lists, and the continued excuses
5. half the people didn't have a current events article yesterday
6. kids cheating on the history test... and telling me it is ok to do
7. kids' inadequate response to my requests to listen and/or follow directions
8. kids messing with another kid's keyboard, wires, or computer just to irritate them
9. kids doing stupid things in chat or on a group G-doc
10. we are wasting our potential here together this year... I hate that the most.
