Your choice of earbuds says a lot about your personality and lifestyle.

Ask Millennials and Gen Z what trendy audio devices they think are the coolest on the market nowadays. Don't be surprised if true wireless earbuds will receive one of the most mentions. The popularity of earbuds seems to have increased in recent years. Perhaps, the benefits of earbuds continue to capture consumers' attention—from getting the best sound quality to boosting productivity. After all, you can use earbuds for many activities—gaming, workout, online meetings, listening to music, or watching movies on the go.

True wireless earbuds are style statements, your choices of design and brand to choose say something about you. They come in different types for adults, sports, work, or youngsters. With so many styles and brand options vying for your attention, you're wondering which pair of earbuds suits best to you. How do you know which one to choose?

There are some considerations before buying earbuds: quality, price, and brand. Another pro tip is to determine your purpose beforehand. It's best to choose earbuds depends on your lifestyle, personality, and daily needs. Are you buying earbuds for work, or do you need them for entertainment? Or, opt for earbuds that have the best of both worlds? Essentially, whatever your purpose may be, we recommend Sabbat True Wireless Earbuds. This article will provide insights on which of their earbuds best suit you so you'll never go wrong in deciding. Read on below!

For the workaholic millennials

For busy workaholics, get earbuds that will cater to your busy schedule while also providing a comfortable listening experience.

When you're remotely working from home, you will need a reliable audio device helpful for online meetings and phone calls. Consider three things when looking for a pair: high-definition sound quality, noise reduction features, and a clear and stable microphone. High-definition (HD) sound quality pertains to the highest quality audio to flow through your gear. At the same time, the noise reduction feature can help you isolate yourself from all the disruptive noises at home and help you focus on your tasks at hand. Do they have a stable microphone that can fit snugly inside your ear? After all, you wouldn't want to wear uncomfortable earbuds if you're going to use most of your work hours.

With these features, you would also need a good pair of work-at-home earbuds that you can use even when you're away from your mobile phone or laptop. It's a staple that your earbuds should have a reliable Bluetooth for wireless connection and hands-free communications. Remember, sound quality and comfort are the keys!

Sabbat's X12 Ultra in Snow White (PhP2,790)

Editor's Pick: Sabbat's X12 Ultra in Snow White. These earbuds are something special because they provide Digital Signal Processor (DSP) noise reduction CVC8.0 for high-definition calls that offer top-notch sound quality, making them a staple for telecommuting. They have an ergonomic design and suitable fitting to your ears without worrying about them falling out even if you're moving around. Its X12's Smart Touch controls buttons let you pause or play any audio with just one tap, so you wouldn't do many movements while working. What's more? These earbuds have Bluetooth 5.0 version, and yes, they are wireless, giving you the best work-from-anywhere experience!

For the trendy fashionistas

If you want to stand out, choose a pair of earbuds with a chic and unique color scheme.

Are you an aspiring influencer or a fashionista who always plans your OOTDs? Then surely you would want to look picture perfect from head to toe. Believe it or not, you can also incorporate your earbuds into your entire outfit! For example, a pair with a minimalist design and chic color palette will look great in any attire. But you shouldn't choose based on appearance alone! Along with the aesthetics, you should also opt for comfort and quality.

Sabbat's Vooplay Cereal (PhP2,990)

Editor's Pick: Sabbath's Vooplay. These chic earbuds are a winner as a fabulous addition to your outfits due to their Nordic-inspired color palette. They come in four colors: cereal, shadow, glacier, reef, lynn, and moss which will draw fashionistas in. Quality-wise, these earbuds are equipped with 14.2mm drivers, the most basic earbuds unit that lets you get impressive sound audio. This pair also features Bluetooth 5.0 version and has a transmission range of up to 10 meters. More so, since these earbuds have a half-in-ear design, you won't be prone to ear fatigue due to prolonged wear.

For the sports and fitness enthusiasts

Whether you're doing yoga or intense cardio, get a pair of earbuds that will remain secure in your ears for hassle-free workouts.

Every fitness enthusiast would agree that listening to upbeat songs helps stay motivated and energized when working out. True wireless earbuds can help you do that. When finding a pair for both your indoor and outdoor workouts, there are two most fundamental factors to consider: secure fit into your ears and good waterproof features. Will they remain in place in your ears even during your most intense activities? Do they have a water-resistance quality that can withstand sweat without worrying about them breaking? Knowing about these features will tell you if earbuds will be a perfect fit for you and your fitness events.

Sabbat's E12 Ultra (PhP3,590)

Editor's Pick: Sabbat's E12 Ultra. These in-ear earbuds are lightweight that have perfect fitting into your ear, so you'll never have to worry about dropping them while exercising. Its non-slip grip design makes it a great workout accessory that can keep up with intense movements. Also worth noting is that it has an IPX5 waterproof rating, which means that they're essentially sweatproof! Aside from these features that make it an excellent option for fitness nuts, it has a noise-reduction feature that can bolster your workout through its sound quality. Plus, as true wireless earbuds, you won't find any cables getting in your way while you're running or working out.

For the entertainment lovers

Immerse yourself into your favorite video game with quilty sounds!

It's a no-brainer that earbuds are essential for pro gamers, music lovers, or podcast aficionados. For music lovers, getting the best music experience possible is like winning a game, and earbuds can bring more than great sounds for gamers. Thus, apart from a pair that provides incredible audio, the battery life and low latency features should also be on your checklist.

You'd prefer a model that has long-lasting batteries so you can play or watch for many hours. Choose a pair that has an excellent battery life to last for more extended periods. Another pro advice, look for a pair with a latency feature. Low latency prevents delays between when you take action and when you see the result. The lower latency, the better; it will provide a better music experience and more gaming advantage.

Sabbat's E16 Galaxy (PhP4,790)

Editor's Pick: Sabbath's E16 Galaxy. The E16 Galaxy is the newest and latest add-on to the Sabbath True Wireless series. What makes it shine from the rest is its battery life. This pair can play for up to six hours before recharging, and a total usage time of 30 hours is noticeably an upgraded feature. Plus, it has a low latency gaming and video mode that you can easily access by clicking the control buttons. The great news is that it has the latest Bluetooth version, 5.2, compatible with Android and iOS users. Thus, it's suitable for indoor hobbies like gaming and streaming since it provides a better sound environment that will complement the visuals of your games and movies.
