

SL: Dear Sir/Madam

Your traveling page is full of great information, places to visit, and activities to do. I honestly love what you are doing.

So after my amazement, I decided to quickly sign up for your newsletter, but I couldn't find it anywhere.

I tried to look around your page more, but instead of the newsletter, I found a lot of problems.

I found things like pages not being directed to one another, sentences not being placed together well, and other mistakes like this.

I want to help you get over this gap so you can give other customers their most wonderful time.

If you are interested then we should book a call.

All the best,
Karekni Nagy
