Did u talk  you're leaving?

*tell

I think she knew already. I was going to tell her today, but she'd been out all morning

You think or you know?

Also you have her phone number so you could've called her just like you called me and texted the group chat

I already texted her

I'm going to call her though why didn't you tell her you were leaving at all?

I'm ngl  that's very much messed up because she lived right down the hall from you and you've had a long time to tell her and not telling her at all is r ude

I know that, and i currently feel really bad. I genuinely thought she already knew, and I thought she was going to be home by the time I got home so I could say my goodbyes to her. I'm trying to reach her, but she hasn't answered. I'm still trying to get a hold of her to say goodbye and apologize even if she's upset and stop lying to me be fr

I'm being honest with you rn. I knew she knew from past conversations and instances. I was going to say goodbye to her before I left, but she wasn't home yet

No she did not know like at all and you know that because you did not tell her neither did your mom tell tattie until a few days ago when she asked if your stuff was packed

I personally didn't find out until last night and my mom told Tatie as soon as she knew when I'd leave which was yesterday. Even then, I didn't know if I was leaving today or tomorrow. I was going to tell ~~T~~ today, but my godfather confirmed that I was leaving today by the time ~~T~~ left.

I'm sure she knew ↓ I'd leave in general, not that I'd be leaving today

I know I should've told her, and that's a big mistake on my end, but in my mind, I thought I had time to tell her. My godfather said either Saturday or Sunday, either way he said he would come in the evening. I thought I had a lot of time to inform ~~T~~ of either dates, so I didn't tell her as soon as I knew. I'm not even trying to play dumb, I was convinced that ~~T~~ knew because of things she's said before which she would only know if she knew I was leaving. I may sound defensive, but that's only because I didn't intend to be rude or selfish in any way, but because I didn't think anything through, it came off that way.

Do u not see how you not saying you're leaving at all on the slightest is inconsiderate?

I do see that, and I feel very guilty about it. I want to apologize, but I also know that apologies aren't just something you say and magically get forgiven. I tried calling her to

I do see that, and I feel very guilty about it. I want to apologize, but I also know that apologies aren't just something you say and magically get forgiven. I tried calling her to talk to her about it, but like I said, I couldn't get in touch with her

I can't do anything to go back in time to fix my mistake, but I would like to do something Abt in the present

Could you at least let  know that I would like to talk to her please? I don't expect her to want to talk to me, and that's fine, but I also don't want her to think that I don't care at all or feel no remorse for the fact that I didn't tell her I would be leaving, because I do care and feel bad that I didn't

Hey, [REDACTED]. I just left the house. I thought I'd have time to say goodbye to you, but that wasn't the case. Thank you so much for caring about me, even when I wronged you or acted stupid. I hope I can visit, but I'll definitely do my best to keep in touch for real this time. I love you so much, and I wish you well
