ACCESS Community School Thoughts

The playground is almost done, and we'll never close the playground during the school year again!

- Summer work parties? Blacktop painting/refresh
- Evening events with other families, in the school space.
- Put out more info about clubs, have an at-school club fair for the kids (several times?). Leadership middle schoolers or upper elementary leading affinity clubs (LGBTQIA, etc - this has been seeded by counselor in the past).
- DEI book discussion, movie/book events (Hidden Figures example). Talking about community and the identity of community. Planning has to be careful not to assume that popcorn/pizza fundraiser or traveling to the west side is available to all families. Maybe the community isn't the building, but rather the people.
- Mechanisms for fostering micro-communities - bus routes/neighborhoods - will support engagement after school/evening via carpooling.
- Mentor families for new families - host park meet-ups. Revive ACCESS Outschool - could be in person or virtual.
- Emergency prep might be a common denominator that would engage a bunch of families. Community Education for Access families regarding family preparedness and emergency response.

- (Reading Buddies building-wide next year) (maybe more of an internal during-the-school-day thing)

Is there a logical place - PTA? To find someone(s) to shepherd community building? A new committee?

Is there institutional knowledge to be gleaned from recently/about to grad long-term families before too much time passes?

Next year or two - ACCESS Safety Committee can become more robust to support some of these topics.

Items for Michelle York:

1. share something about our local norming plan
2. Question: what do we do with kids who out-ACCESS ACCESS - needs go far beyond what ACCESS can really meet?
3. Please share any thoughts from the district side re: demonstration site
4. ACCESS needs a training budget above & beyond

End of Year Items

Local Norming Thoughts

 Talk to Michelle York about this in May. Can we do some pre-work? There are no more TAG TOSAs. (Actually, there are no more Office of Teaching & Learning TOSAs, a much larger pool)
