

Hi Darek,

Finally, someone that also intentionally doesn't train/counts calories on vacation. I thought I was alone.

I was searching on IG for a potential Calisthenics influencer to partner up with and Caliathletics matched my compatibility list very well because of its great brand foundation: YOU

While I was further scrolling through your IG, I figured out a way to help you take advantage of your minimalistic brand aesthetic and monetize your audience's attention by creating three captions you can use for future content you post.

They will leave your audience with questions that only can be answered by checking out [prospects website]

I expect them to generate massive curiosity towards your Intermediate workout program.

I didn't want to send them to the wrong person so I wanted to check out if it's you that I'm reaching out to and not some other Darek.

Just simply reply with "YES" and I will send them over immediately.

Cheers bro,
