

Dictation Practice: What is a Dictation?

Guadalupe

Dictation 1: A Dictation is simple the teacher or someone reading out a piece of written text and asking the students to write out what they hear.

It can be newspaper, song, or

If you include languages that you recently taught in a dictation it is also a good way to evaluate what the students have learned.

Dictation 2:

David

Dictation 1: A dictation is a simple the teacher or someone reading out a piece of reading text and a asking students to write down what they heard. The text can be the first few lines of a newspaper article Averse of a song or even a instructions to another activity. It is useful since it practice writiing and speaking of another

It useful practie listeninnig

If you include language that you recently it is also to evalyuate what students have learned it.

Dictation 2:

Jessica

Dictation 1:

A dictation is simply a teacher or someone to read a little piece

Few lines of a useful since as students are able to write it down it's useful as

It's also good way so the students are able to.....etc

Dictation 2:

Carolina

Dictation 1: a dictation is simply the teacher or someone reading out a piece of written text and asking the students to write down what they hear. The text could be the first few lines of a newspaper article, a verse of a song, even the instructions of...
It's useful since it practices writing...
If you include language that you have recently taught in a dictation it is also a good way to evaluate what students have learnt it.

Dictation 2:

Gabriela

Dictation 1:

A dictation is simply the teacher or someone reading out a text and asking the students to write out what they hear. The text can be verse of a song

It is useful since it practices writing, listening, if you include language

It is a way to evaluate what students have learnt it

Dictation 2:

Sara

Dictation 1: A dictation is simple the teacher reading out a piece of reading text and asking students to write down ...a verse of a song even the instructions of...it useful it is also a good way

Dictation 2:

Ignacio

Dictation 1: A dictation is simply the teacher or someone reading out a piece of written text and asking the students to write down what they hear. The text could be the first few lines of a newspaper article, a verse of a song, even the instructions to another activity. It's useful since it practices writing and speaking as well as speaking. If you include language that you have recently taught in a dictation it is also a good way to evaluate whether students have learnt it.

Dictation 2:

Dagmaré

Dictation 1:

A dictation is simple a teacher or someones writing out a text and asking them to write down what they hear. It is useful

Dictation 2: