- Juniors and Seniors:

The Department of Education announced recently that there will be another delay in this year's FAFSA. Families of college bound students are in a unique situation to use this delay to their benefit by using the additional time to assess strategies that may require more time to implement. This includes the chance for senior families to set-the-stage and prepare for a stronger appeal to their top-choice college/university. Families of Juniors will benefit with the additional time to review and implement income strategies that will lower college costs even more. Learn what to do to maximize your financial aid offers!

Pine Island HS is teaming up with the financial aid experts at My College Planning Team to offer a live workshop to junior and senior families to help you understand the increasingly complex world of need-based and merit-based financial aid so that you are better able to navigate this process with your colleges. Advanced registration is appreciated.
