Dr. Sybil Salins Meshramkar serves as the Director of Velemegna Good News Society Hospital, Bidar, where she is responsible for overseeing the administration, management, and overall functioning of the hospital. Her role includes planning and supervising healthcare services, coordinating medical staff, ensuring quality patient care, managing outreach programs, and guiding the hospital's mission of serving economically weaker and rural communities. She also plays a key role in organizing charitable healthcare initiatives, community eye camps, and public health awareness activities.

In addition to her administrative responsibilities, Dr. Sybil is a practicing ophthalmologist dedicated to the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of eye diseases. She regularly conducts outpatient department (OPD) consultations, examines patients with various ophthalmic conditions, and provides medical and surgical management for eye disorders. She performs a wide range of ophthalmic procedures and surgeries, including cataract surgeries, pterygium excision, eyelid procedures, and other vision-restoring treatments. She is also actively involved in outreach work through rural screening camps, where she identifies patients with preventable blindness and ensures access to proper treatment and surgical care. Through her leadership and clinical service, she has contributed significantly to improving eye health and healthcare accessibility in underserved regions.

Nomination for

The Organization is proud to nominate Dr. Sybil Salins Meshramkar for this award in recognition of her exceptional dedication, leadership, and humanitarian service in the field of healthcare and community welfare. As the Director of Velemegna Good News Society Hospital in Bidar, Karnataka, she has devoted her life to providing quality and affordable healthcare services to underserved and marginalized communities, especially in rural areas.

Dr. Sybil is not only an efficient administrator but also a highly skilled ophthalmologist who has personally performed more than 75,000 eye surgeries during her medical career. Her work has restored sight and transformed the lives of thousands of patients suffering from preventable blindness and other eye disorders. She regularly conducts outpatient consultations, performs complex ophthalmic surgeries, and leads outreach eye screening camps in remote villages where access to healthcare is limited. Her commitment to reaching the unreached and serving the poorest of the poor reflects the true spirit of compassionate healthcare.

Beyond her medical contributions, Dr. Sybil has shown extraordinary concern for vulnerable and neglected populations in society. She has been actively caring for leprosy-affected individuals through the Navjeevan Leprosy Centre, which has been serving patients and supporting rehabilitation since 1984. Through this initiative, countless individuals affected by leprosy have received medical care, dignity, emotional support, and hope for a better future.

In addition, Dr. Sybil has been running the Navjeevan Children's Home since 2008, which currently provides shelter, care, education, and emotional support to around 40 children, including orphans, abandoned children, and children from vulnerable backgrounds. Her dedication to the welfare of widows, orphans, and disadvantaged children reflects her deep humanitarian values and lifelong commitment to social service.

Dr. Sybil also actively participates in national and international medical conferences, seminars, and professional forums where she has presented various research papers and shared her expertise in ophthalmology and community healthcare. Her continuous involvement in academic and professional development demonstrates her commitment to excellence and lifelong learning.

Dr. Sybil's service demonstrates the key eligibility and evaluation criteria of dedication, social impact, professional excellence, leadership, and humanitarian commitment. Her tireless efforts, humility, and willingness to serve without discrimination have earned the respect and gratitude of patients, colleagues, and the wider community. Despite numerous challenges, she continues to work selflessly with compassion, discipline, and integrity.

The Organization firmly believes that Dr. Sybil Salins Meshramkar truly deserves this recognition for her lifelong contribution to healthcare and social welfare. Her work stands as an inspiration to medical professionals and society alike, reflecting a rare combination of professional excellence, visionary leadership, and deep humanitarian values.
