I have a long history of being involved in nonprofit organizations. My career started as a nonprofit fundraiser and evolved to the development of a startup serving the nonprofit communities and since a long history of startups and support of nonprofit organizations. I look forward to using these skills and experiences to create a place to support the Trilum game token and its ecosystem.

Starting as an early player and then becoming an early team member at Dacoco, and then again a non-staff player at in the Syndicates DAO game, I have had the privilege of hearing the vision of the founders and early players and continue to value those lessons and models. I hope to help to chronicle the history, provide access to some of the brilliant ideology that created this metaverse for us and provide opportunities for players to have additional engagement and governance opportunities in support of this ecosystem.
