. . . . background . . . .

[F. ■ .=====]

place of birth: Kushu

current residence: Apartment 75 in kushu apartments life story: left for dead by her family, Atticus had been taken in by an orphanage for unwanted children, the orphanage in question was in a constant state of disrepair, but the staff there taught her, as well as many other children the meaning of family, as well as power and dominance, essentially becoming an unregistered school for future villains, heroes, or whatever they'd become after they gained their independence.

Fast forward a couple of years later, Atticus graduates early via an online study course, with nothing less to do, she applies and eventually works as a caretaker, taking care of old people. Whilst in the Cover of night, she creates the identity of Dark insurrector,

. . . .  quirk  . . . .

type:

name of quirk: panthera uncia

description: Panthera uncia grants the user abilities and characteristics akin to that of a feline, in this case, Atticus is akin to that of a snow leopard.

strength: she is granted two bullhook like claws whilst also being able to jump six times the length of her body. She has great agility due to her extremely long tail, while also being able to wrap it around herself if the temperatures get to harsh weaknesses: while she has a handful of abilities, her human factor still remains alive and well, Due to the natural given diet of that of a snowleopard vs that of a human, her metabolism and calorie intake is thrown off the rails, causing cycles of hunger or sleep depravation akin to that of a menstrual cycle.
