

There happened to be original designs for all 8 sprites that are presented in Transparent. I can only show the sprites that are currently presented in the DEMO VER.

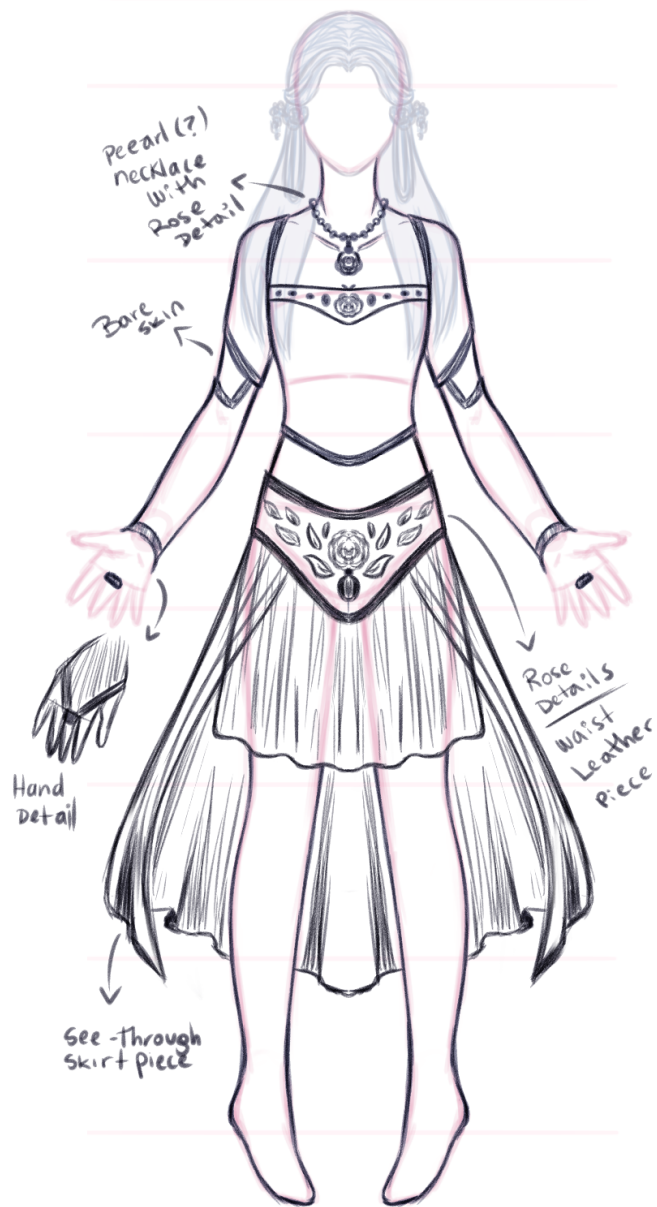

First of all (Luna):

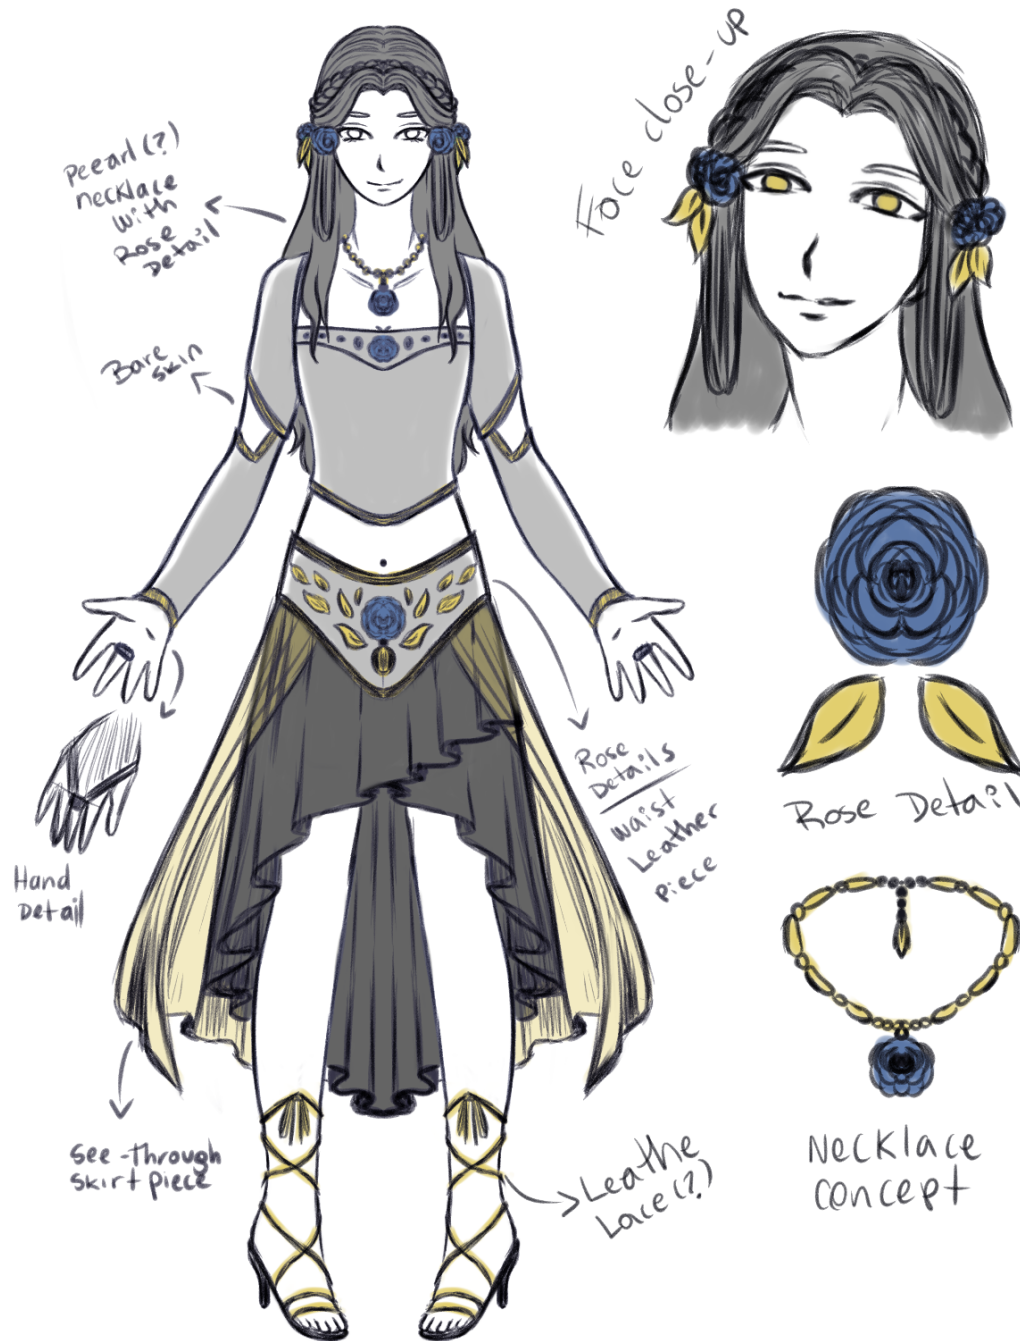

Luna's dress is actually made by a fellow freelance artist, @nekomakino!

Around 4 years ago, we met on lemmasoft after me wanting to make my first visual. She volunteered as a character artist.

Unfortunately, the project dropped, but I learned a lot from her and the others that worked with me before. It's not easy making a visual novel with no experiences...

Anyways, here are the designs she made for my original second protagonist/nekomakino's work below:

A link to find her website and herself:

Come join her discord server if you are a game developer for otome, bl, and etc!

Second Design Draft (Luna):

So I gave FrostyTrashPanda, my second artist the original sketch from nekomakino's art and I told her to get rid of the sleeves and play around with it.

Here are the results below:

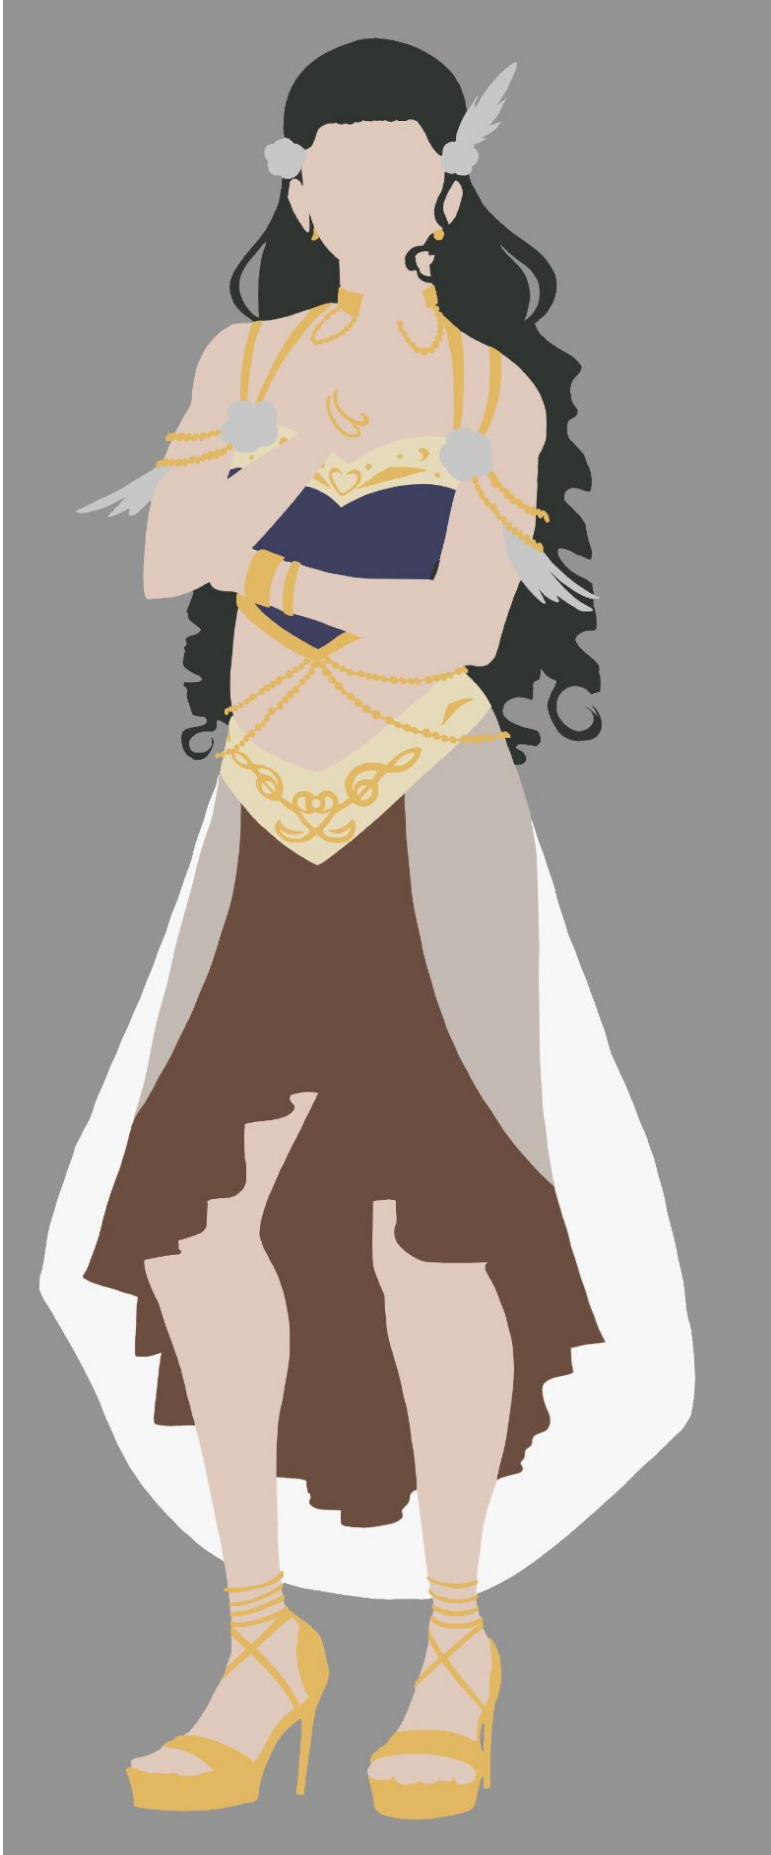

It's unfinished, but this was as far as Frosty can do because she got ill. We didn't know if she got the covid, but that was the last I heard from her.

Third Draft (Luna's Design):

Finally, my third artist, Marzipan Stars (<https://www.marsperedo.com/>) was able to finish Luna's design in time! I can only show the first flats at the moment as the finished art is already published on the game.

Thank you for your time to read over this doc! I just want to share this because I learned that every artist is different. Always ask what they specialize in: Painting, Line Art, and etc. Plus, good art takes time, so please give them the time to improve many times as they commit their time and effort to make your visual novel or other projects shine.

Looking forward to the full game! The date remains anonymous!
