What a loveable loser. Whirlwind is a nice nemesis: He can do some damage (his spinning lets him rip apart a car), and he could certainly be tough against the right guy (he'd be tough against a Strength 6 or 7 wrestler), but he's just not that tough for Wasp, and she triggers two of his Qualities.

In the comics, he's a former boxer, so I gave him Strength and Prowess 4. I gave him a 3 for the armor because I made Wasp's blasts a 4. You can make her blasts a little stronger, or up his Resistance and declare that, in his first appearance, she was using an autoattack against him, co-ordinating the attacks for a +1, or she was compelling his "Don't mock me!" quality for +1.

She clearly scored a stun effect. I use Law here to stand in for the criminal side of it all: he knows about beating the rap.
