

Hi, Nick!

I came across your Facebook page today and I found your post about what naturally helps build muscle very interesting. I can see how your audience finds your posts informative and helpful.

As I looked through your website I came up with a genius idea on how to improve marketing and increase sales for your supplements.

Because I wanted to test out my idea, and because I genuinely like what you do. I actually went ahead and designed something for your future marketing.

If you want, I can send it over to you for free just to test things out.

Kind regards -Lars Tingvold.

-Try to rewrite their old email or social media post with the DIC, PAS, or HSO framework.

-you can send them a google doc in which you show what can be improved on a part of their website or email list and show an example like an email, or introduction for their website page..
