

It Ain't Like That

IDEA - 6-18-2020

by

Patrick Ryan

Words

A married man meets a woman whom he connects with emotionally, physically, spiritually, and metaphysically when they get stuck in an elevator one afternoon, she's all he can think of from that day forward, committed to his wife and family; he continues to see her platonically, how long will it last when the scales are tipped so far in one direction.