

Diary of The Wonderland Invasion Act III

With a plan place and idea of how to take down the Lizard Kingdom, all I had to do is wait for my ankle to heal completely. Which made time to seemingly start moving at a snail's pace. Hell I think I even saw the clock on the wall start to move backwards a couple of times. Obviously the doings of the Lizard King and his witchcraft with ability to manipulate the space time continuum. Though as I sat there, I started to pick up on things more as the Lizard King started to make a play for Owen Cruze. I saw his grasp start to inch closer and closer to Owen. And I could do nothing but watch helplessly as I sat on the sideline. At that moment I was in no condition to take on the Lizard King. Unfortunately it seemed he was going to corrupt yet another young warrior to do his bidding and bend to his will. It was much more sickening now that I knew what he was doing and as I was know paying much closer attention.

And really it shouldn't have came to no one's surprise that young naive Owen would catch the eye of that vile evil reptilian tyrant. Owen Cruze has became the standout among the young, new up and coming warriors. Yet more importantly he was impressionable. Plus it didn't hurt he was a legacy with his Uncle another honored Lizard King warrior. So I guess Owen was always going to be on the horrendous green asshole's radar, just seeing it happen so plainly and openly made me sick to my stomach.

The cruel manipulative green bastard though used a strategy that played on Owen's quest for acknowledgement like all young Lizard King subject are taught at a young age. Since the kid became a warrior in the kingdom when he tried like the fifty others to take the gold propaganda I had the beginning of last year, he always had to fight to get noticed. He always had to be the best warrior he could be. Sure he had setbacks but lately he was starting to beat some of the most decorated warriors in the kingdom. Though the kod wasn't getting the respect he deserved. He was still being left in the background. He was being picked over for shots at some of the Lizard Kong's golden propagandas. The green scaly bastard knew exactly what he was doing, he made Owen want respect from someone, anyone.

That is where the Reptilian tyrant sent in the frozen general to befriend him. She got close with him and offer him that one thing that had eluded him the whole year....respect. Though respect this way wasn't nothing more than a facade to get in close with him. It was a way to convince him that Selena was someone he could trust. She was nothing more than a wolf in sheep clothing as she was a deeply devoted loyalist to the green skinned king. She was just doing this to help the king add yet another young impressionable warrior to his regime. The kid was being led down a path of nothing more than a pawn in the Lizard Kong's sick game of chess. He was looking at a life where he would be strung along just enough to keep him wanting more. Owen was about to fall for the Lizard King's lie and deceit via the friendship and "respect" of one frozen queen.

I had to do something and luckily my ankle healed the week of Owen and Selena's fight for respect. What a complete farce. Yet what to do was something I was coming up blank on. I mean if I went down there and told him that Selena was just using him to better her placement with the hideous reptile king, he would ignore it. For I had been made out to be a crazy person. I had been portrayed as a guy with loose screws. The Lizard King has made sure all his subjects believed that. Then again he used his golden propaganda as blinders to the truth I was trying to spread. Everyone was filled with skepticism and distrust of everyone. It was the greed, the need for accolades, and titles that drove everyone into backstabbers and saboteurs. Owen was no different as he was very weary of people that didn't offer him what he desired. He should have been weary of the ones that did offer him that. Then again he is young and could be forgiven for that I guess. I just needed to save him from his inexperience, from the wool being pulled over his eyes.

But again how?

Day 84 Under Attack

The day had come when the Lizard bastard was going to basically take Owen Cruze under his scaly green wing with the help of the unwavering loyal frozen general and I still was searching for a way to stop them. I was looking for a way to turn back Owen Cruze away from the evil empire. I was looking for a way to take the attention away from the frozen general and the scaly tyrant. I was looking for a way to show him there is an alternative, I was wanting to wake him up to the glory of the Wonderland. I stood the janitor's closet in the Vivint Smart Home Arena In Salt Lake City, Utah pacing back and forth, trying rattle my brain for anything that doesn't have me talking to him. The Lizard King has already put in enough effort to make my claims and truth seem nonsensical.

"I know how fruit cake."

No I knew his suggestion would be result of some physical altercation as That was Jules's answer to everything. I mean I was grateful that he saved me from that hellish prison in the occupied Wonderland but we were kinda in this spot because of him. He was the one that left me to rot in the occupied Wonderland because he thought he was better off without me. It was his fault that we couldn't do anything about Owen till now because he treated my body like a blunt object when he had control of it. So really I wasn't really in the mood to be listening to the deranged bunny.

"You know deep down it is only way"

It is never the only way. I was representing the Wonderland a place that was about peace and tranquility, not physical force. Then again I guess Jules was a way to counter balance our peaceful nature. It was a way to not allow the Wonderland to get taken away. Or it was suppose to be that way but with the Wonderland being occupied by the Lizard Kingdom, I really don't know what would be the right thing to do. I mean talking to him won't work, but attacking him wouldn't do us any favors in getting him to side with the Wonderland. I mean I would want to side with some place that just attacks me. Then again the Lizard Kingdom somehow does it and makes their subjects like it and crave it.

"This isn't about getting him to join the Wonderland."

If it isn't about getting Owen to join the Wonderland then it had to be the need to satisfy your need for blood. I wasn't going to allow your savage thinking, mess up our opportunity to snatch up the Lizard King's best upcoming warrior for the Wonderland. It would be a heavy blow to the Lizard Kingdom for the youth in the kingdom were starting to look up to him. They were starting to idolize him. Owen Cruze was a key component in my plan to take down the Lizard Kingdom. And I wasn't about to let Jules fuck this opportunity over just show he could inflict pain.

"It isn't about clenching my bloodlust thirst. It is about getting the assholes attention."

But it would be the wrong type of attention, we don't want him to resist the Wonderland. We need him to embrace it. We need him to support it. Most importantly we need him to choose it on his own. We need the youth of the Lizard Kingdom, see that their generational role model chose to think outside the box. He chose to go against the grain. He defied the popular thinking and teaching as he willingly journeyed down the rabbit hole. That would be the best scenario. That would be what we needed to happen.

"He isn't going to freely choose the Wonderland. You know it, I know it, Sam even knows it. That green little bitch has slandered the name of the Wonderland. Everyone here thinks you are just some fucking burnt out nut job."

Unfortunately Jules was right. The Lizard King has did a stellar job of putting me in the light of a crazy guy. He had hidden the truth of his actions so well that my statements and rants came off as irrational and unfounded. My claims were made to appear false and ridiculous. Basically Jules suggestion was the only way to at least half the full corruption of Owen. It would at least give me the young talented warrior's attention.

I didn't want to do it. I was getting tired of having to try and use force to get people to understand my point of view. I mean the Wonderland was the polar opposite of what we were doing here in the Lizard Kingdom. We want to promote togetherness and harmony. We want everyone to share and get along. We wanted people to respect each other and support their views. Though right now I was having to use Jules for hatred, I was having to force people to hear my views. I was having to use Jules to beat it into their head.

I didn't want it to be this way but I had no other choice. This was my one and only opportunity to save Owen from the claws of the Lizard King. This was my only chance to save him from becoming just another soldier in the greedy bastards army. Owen has a chance to be someone special in the Wonderland. But apparently it would come down to attacking him, to help him. I knew he wouldn't get it. The Lizard King has pretty much gotten rid of the philosophy of thinking outside the box. I lowered my head as I was about to let Jules take control.

"Don't worry, I won't destroy the kid. I will just send him a message and a glimpse of the Wonderland."

The words rang familiar as I have been doing the same thing over and over again. I was offering them paradise but when they ignored my offer. I forced them to see the Wonderland. It wasn't working as people start to hold a grudge against the Wonderland. They were denying my offer out of pure spite it would seem. I had to change things but the Lizard King's smoke and mirrors was forcing me to do the same thing over and over. I was caught in a vicious cycle but I just hoped that somehow this worked. I hope Owen would be one of the few like Beard that saw and understood the Wonderland. I just hoped that Owen would see it and embrace. I hope he wouldn't hold Jules's actions against us. Seemingly it was the only way to do what needed to be done.

I lowered my head and let Jules take control.

Day 188: A New Year, A New Approach

My plans of using Owen to basically spark a youth movement toward Wonderland seemingly blew up in my face. I figured it would as it seemed that the Lizard King and the Frozen General had already had firmly gotten ahold of Owen. They had already twisted and perverted his mind into their way of thinking. The poor kid was going to be another warrior that was used and abused by the Lizard King. He was going to end up just like his uncle. I mean sure I had reservations about getting Owen's attention the way we did at the Under Attack festival. Yet I was behind the eight ball as it already was. Though I don't think anything that I could have done would have changed the kid's mind. He was too far gone as he gotten what he thought he needed from Selena....respect. Though was it respect or them blowing just enough smoke up his ass to get him in line with the Lizard King? I just hope one day he would realize this smoke and mirrors they had put before them.

Though maybe it would be coming sooner than later as I was starting to sense some sort of power struggle in the Lizard Family. Ever since I have found out their existence while trying to escape my prison in the occupied Wonderland, I had hoped it would be something I could take advantage of soon. And soon was seemingly here as the Princesses were growing tired of sitting idly by and want to gain power of the kingdom. They were ready to sit atop of the kingdom. They were greedy and power hungry just like their despicable father.

Though right now I chose to take a different approach as I chose to slow play it and check each of the princesses out as I knew that there would certainly be lines drawn, the kingdom divided. It happened with every power struggle. So I had to make smart choice in who to presumably side with even if I really wasn't going to support them. For I knew that choosing no sides would make you an enemy of all sides. And with it just being Jules, Sam, and myself, I could afford to do that even if Jules was more than happy to take on all comers. Anyway I watched each Princess closely for a couple weeks now with the Lizard King off doing whatever and leaving them in charge.

Princess Kayta seemed to be more decisive of the two. She seemed to be more of a polarizing figure much like her father. She didn't care who she pissed off as she knew in her mind that her decision was right. She thought was seemingly easily manipulated by a faction of crafty veterans that used her to get their way. She was also going to be easily corrupt with power as she often made decisions without much for thought. While supporting her would be the best to take down the Wonderland, she was too much of the image of her father for me to even think about throwing my support behind. Sure she had many blind spots and was a blunt personality, I just couldn't prostitute my Wonderland's reputation, just to have someone in power that would be easier to topple.

Princess Sasha was much more calculating leader. She often weighed the pros and cons before making decisions. Yet she often followed the lead of her father in masking herself as the good daughter. She often did what the Lizard King would do. She often was basically a more compassionate Lizard King. Yet she still was a snake in the grass. She still like her father had her favorites and sided with them every time. Yet something was different about Sasha, she didn't have the appearance of the Lizard rather just the mannerisms and actions of one. I didn't know if the former queen wasn't a Lizard Person and one Princess came out Lizard and the other human or what. I never looked into the reproduction of the Lizard People. I mean it was boring missionary sex and it would have me picture Lizard People actually having sex. Neither of which appealed in me in the slightest. Anyway Sasha not being an actual Lizard Person, maybe adopted, I saw a chance to change her view on the Wonderland. She should somewhat a tiny glimpse of compassion. Something probably viewed as a birth defect by the Lizard King. Either Sasha was the one I chose to "support".

Either way this sudden occurrence was only going to benefit the Wonderland. You see whoever gained control of the kingdom would alienate half of the kingdom. And that half of the kingdom would finally start to realize that the pure corruption that the Lizard King and his family wield on a daily basis. They will finally open their eyes to the blatant and rampant favoritism that runs throughout the kingdom. They will finally see the Lizard King and his family as the evil tyrant that I have preached about the last year and a half. They will see them as the snakes they truly are.

You see whoever wins control, means Wonderland wins. For you see when they see the corrupt kingdom, there is only one thing they can do to change things and that is revolt. Yes whoever wins whether it is Sasha or Kayta, they will deal with a revolution. And the Wonderland will be there to accept the mistreated, the downtrodden, the ones looking for the alternative. We are the alternative. We are the escape, the spark, the only way things will ever change.

I sat in the locker room thinking about such. I couldn't wait for the revolution to start. For that would be the time that the Wonderland would be the biggest threat to taking down the kingdom. Though just then my thoughts were interrupted by a knock at the door. I stood up as I walked to the door. I opened the door cautiously as lately I had made my disdain for Kayta known publicly. I didn't know if this was an ambush waiting for me to open the door.

Though this was no ambush rather the mother of a woman who had sided with Kayta and had seemingly taken offense to the Wonderland for some reason. Marie Jones has seemingly develop the notion that my Wonderland was taking opportunities away from her. Typical Lizard King well now Lizard Princess tactics. She had already started making the Wonderland the villain when it was the person staring back at her in the mirror. Marie though has seemingly made it her own mission to take me out in order to gain more favor with the Lizard Princess.

Yet when I looked at Angelica Jones, I could tell this wasn't about her daughter. I saw in the look in her eyes that she was tired of the favoritism, the politics of the kingdom. She was looking for something different as everything else had led to the same result. Angelica was the first one to open her eyes and see that no matter who was in charge their would always be corruption. She was the first one to think outside the box. I smiled at her as she looked at me still unsure how to take me as the Lizard Kingdom has beat into everyone's head that I was a loose cannon. She finally spoke....

Angelica Jones: Can I speak with you....

I nodded as this was it, the beginning of the revolution. It was time to liberate the Lizard Kingdom but more importantly to me it was time to finally liberate the Wonderland....

Promo

===+=== The SCW cameras open up in a conference room on one side of a long table as on the other side of the table is a chair facing away from camera as we then see three stacks of papers on the table. Just then the chair spins around as we see Giovanni Aries sitting crossed legged in a leather office chair as as he has a giant smile upon his face. He then takes a drag from his LSD laced cigarette and blows smoke out through his nose before he holds a piece of paper up toward the camera. ===+===

Giovanni Aries: Paper what a fragile and really insignificant thing. Heck it is often discarded with reckless abandon cause well there is a belief that there is much more where that can from. Yet the Lizard King has made paper much more valuable than it should ever truly be. He has given the piece of paper the strength of reinforced steel. He has used the piece paper as a way of motivation as if it is something worthwhile and something needed for obtaining. Yet he has also used it as a way for imprisonment. The bastard has quite the skill in manipulating the most insignificant thing such as paper and make it the end all be all. For now in the Lizard Kingdom, paper is currency, paper is guarantees, paper is iron clad contracts to keep you where you are. You poor helpless souls, don't you see that you are being held down by something that is absolutely and totally worthless?

====+==== Giovanni Aries proceeds to rip the piece of paper in half multiple times before throwing it into the air as he breaks out in mad laughter for a moment before composing himself and continuing. ====+====

Giovanni Aries: Of course you don't want to see for this time of year is one of the most anticipated if you are a Lizard King, Princess, or even person for it is Trios Tournament time. A weekend in which combines two of the Lizard Royal family's greatest loves.....greed and legal binding lengthy worded contracts. For in Trios you have people willfully swallow their dignity, their pride, their ego in the hopes of garnering one of those contracts that almost guarantee a chance to indulge in their most greediest nature. They will actual team with their mortal enemies just to have a chance to capture one of the three contracts. They will do anything for that contract, for a piece of paper, and that is where the Lizard King and his daughters get their rocks off. For that contract just reinforces that they still have their subjects fully under their control. That contracts proves without a shadow of doubt that they have the wool over all of your eyes. Now they can sit back and watch their little pets fight over the crumbs they decide to offer you.

====+==== Giovanni Aries breaks out in mad for a moment and spinning his chair around before stopping and looking back at the camera. ====+====

Giovanni Aries: And what exactly will you do with those crumbs? Continue to feed your ego, continue to reach for that accolade you deem as important. You will continue to do what everyone does and use it to challenge for some sort of gold propaganda. You see this paper only serves to further indenture yourself to the Lizard Family. You continue to fall for the same thing every year. The Trios contract is always used to obtain a title that will only cause you grief when you get knocked off your perch. Yet every year, select few are given a chance to actually do something meaningful, something to change the status quo and they squander it with the need to satisfy their desire for accolades and acknowledgement. So every year that piece of paper, that insignificant piece of dead tree just tightens its grasp on you from ever escaping this vile and corrupt kingdom. You continue to blindly serve without question because you have to have that paper to get accolades, to secure opportunities, to flaunt your materialistic acquisitions.

====+==== Giovanni Aries pulls out some money and rips it up into tiny pieces until it is almost green confetti as Giovanni throws the money confetti up in the air as he then looks back at the camera.====+====

Giovanni Aries: You see I won't allow the Lizard Kingdom's emphasis on paper to corrupt me. I won't let them brainwash me into thinking that this paper will grant my greatest wish like some magic blue genie. Or will it? You see the reason I am actually entertaining this opportunity is because the Lizard Family continue to play into my hands. They continue to leave the door for me and my Wonderland to take down their hideous kingdom. For you see they continue to think that I am gullible like all you. They think that I am going to be distracted by the shiny gold and use that iron clad contract for a shot at the great gold propaganda. They think that I will be tempted to take their greatest prize as my own. They think I am going to fall for the same trap everyone has fell for since the Trios tournament has begun. Those arrogant scaly green pricks continue to underestimate me. They continue to make me out as the crazy guy with the outlandish claims but I have been right every single time. I warned everyone of the princesses which fell on deaf ears till it was too late. I warned that no matter who gained power, it would be full of favoritism and slanted agendas. The same would have happened with Sasha just not as obvious as Kayta has been lately. And it will be the same when the Lizard King retakes the throne. You see the Lizard Family continues to just try and make me out to be incredible. Though as time marches on, the wool is starting to come off some of your eyes and some of you are seeing them for the corrupt and power hungry reptiles they are.

====+==== Giovanni Aries slams his fist on the conference table as he stares at the camera with contempt and anger before directing his attention at the clock on the wall as his anger starts to fade as he looks back the camera before continuing with his dialogue.====+====

Giovanni Aries: But waiting for the whole kingdom to finally see them for who they truly are, may take eons. Some may never come to terms with the truth as they have gotten in too deep. Plus the Lizard Family will continue to pander to the subjects need for greed with the Trios tournament, with Taking Hold of The Flame which is just a name since I returned the true flame back to the Wonderland last year, They will continue to hold end of the year voting for title shots. They will use "opportunities" printed on paper to keep their corruption masked from the masses. They will continue to camouflage their true actions with these special events. So waiting for everyone to come to the realization is off the table....

====+==== Giovanni Aries then looks down at the piece of paper with Trios written on it. Giovanni Aries picks up the "Trios Contract" and looks at with a sly smirk as his eyes focus on the camera.====+====

Giovanni Aries: What is on the table is an opportunity of a lifetime. What is on the table is a key to end this all once and for all. No I am not going to use Trios like on the World title like everyone else, I learned last year that just opens a can of worms that doesn't take down the Lizard Kingdom. You see though what is on the table is a way to use their own deals and paper against them. What am I talking about? I will go ahead and tell you what I am going to use my Trios contract for, I am going to cash it in for a match against the Lizard King for control of the Lizard Kingdom. Which you will have to grant for that insignificant paper has been made ironclad by you. Not to mention the utter disdain Lizard people have for breaking contracts. You see Lizard King and Princesses, who is the crazy one now? Who is the guy that you can be put on the back burner now? You see Lizard Family you are getting sloppy and I along with the Wonderland will make you pay.

===+=== Giovanni Aries breaks out in mad laughter before continuing ===+===

Giovanni Aries: Now I have to outlast twenty-one other individuals while teaming with the Devil himself who seems to be willing to travel down the rabbit hole and a women who is driven by greed like the rest of them and aided by the totally corrupt Kayta. Which I will do. Why? Cause I will not be stopped when the key to taking down the Lizard Kingdom is right in front of me. I will not be denied when I am this close to finishing the job. Sure everyone else is driven by getting that shot everyone thinks they deserve whatever shot at some propaganda they desire, but my drive isn't just for selfish greedy desires. No my drive is helping everyone by finally freeing all of you of your paper bound shackles. My drive is to finally open your eyes to the corrupt kingdom. My drive is to draw the Lizard King out in the light with the match, to have him discard the sheep clothing and show everyone every inch of his disgusting lizard self.

===+=== Giovanni Aries gives the camera a sadistic grin before continuing. ===+=====

Giovanni Aries: So to say that I am a little motivated would be massive and complete understatement. I will do anything to get that piece of paper just so I can use it against the Lizard family. It will be quite the twist for those bastards. So Saturday night I will not stay down. I will not quit. I will keep getting up and coming until that piece of paper is firmly in my grasp. I will gladly jump into the shark infested water. I will take on any of twenty one driven by fame and greed. I will shut all of their greedy filled green eyes. I will put them down with their selfish and corrupt dreams, I will outlast their ill advised drive. Though I won't be sending them down the rabbit hole this time, no after I have the Trios contract, the Wonderland will take over this kingdom and then everyone of you will feel the EMBRACE OF THE WONDERLAND!!!!!!

===+=== Giovanni Aries burst out in mad laughter before throwing his arms out as if he offering a hug toward the camera before spinning around in the office chair as the remaining papers fly off the table. ===+===