and how he handles questions about diversity in his series was also off putting to me like ppl would be like "Hey why isnt there more black characters" for example and he would just be like "its Texas what do you expect" like that state doesnt have a high black population?? And he consistently puts EAsian characters in so it started giving like fetishization vibes to me it wasn't a wendigo babe it was a sw, so my conscious is clean, thank you ✨

These two screenshots contradict themselves. In one he says the bot was not a wendi, it was a SW and in the other he says that SWs are sworn against in Najavo culture.

DISRESPECTING CULTURAL FIGURES

The wendi is one, but there's a bunch of others. For example angels and biblical figures.

I'm well aware not everyone believes in certain figures, however, respect is decency when you're creating a fictional work of them. The names should be changed, stories possibly altered. You can be inspired, but you can't outright create a bot based off of a literal religious figure 😭

STEALING HIS BOTS (?😭)

So he keeps claiming my 'followers' (m4lign goonies apparently) are trying to steal his bots. Grown man btw... 21 years old btw... worried about what 15 year olds are saying as jokes in my server. Anyone would be able to differentiate between joke and truth in this case.

And honestly this just felt like he was pointing fingers by blaming me and my followers for him taking down his bots when he was already going to take them down (as stated on his jai acc before.) He wants his fanbase to hate me so obviously he's going to make it look like I'm the reason they lost their beloved bots.

And not to mention, all 3 of the people in the screenshot are 15—sending this to your server where your audience is 16 and over is probably endangering to them because you didn't even bother covering the names or anything.

Also it's literally not possible to steal someone's bot in full unless their definition is public and no one's interested in a short description or a greeting... idk tho 🙄

REGARDING TRANSPHOBIA

This is definitely an interesting take. And to start it off I'll post this

(I know getting info off of reddit isn't very smart, but I couldn't rily look anywhere else there's no much abt this LOL)

Herbert_W • 9y

I think you've answered your own question. You've just given a (very good!) reason to reject neopronouns which has no basis in animus towards trans people whatsoever.

With that being said, transphobia is one possible reason for rejecting neopronouns, and if you reject neopronouns, it is possible some people will (wrongly) accuse you of transphobia as a result.

...   27

ohnoitsZombieJake • 9y

No imho, since your reasoning isn't transphobic.

I will add that the main camp for neopronouns are linguistic prescriptivists who maintain that they/their/them are dedicated to plurals declension. While they have somewhat lost that restriction anyway, since we tend to use them when referring to someone of unknown gender (rather than defaulting, as we would classically, to he/him), and although I tend to err away from prescriptivism, I do see the utility of having separate sets of pronouns for singular and plural nouns. That said, I suspect if we do end up ditching gendered pronouns, it will be they/their/them that end up used and to attempt otherwise is a losing battle not worth fighting because, yes, use of they/their/them rather than neopronouns is not transphobic, plus that's just not how language evolves; I, for one, use they/their/them in spite of the above.

Hope there's something worthwhile in there :)

I am, however considering referring to myself a Mx. rather than a Mr., since there doesn't already exist a gender-neutral title. Though it does rather beg the question of why we should bother continuing to have titles at all...

Is there anything transphobic about rejecting neopronouns?

The most popular neopronouns, xe and ze, have multiple pronunciations and conjugations. As such, it is likely that anyone asked to learn a set of neopronouns would be doing so for the sake of one individual. But that defeats the purpose of pronouns entirely; I may as well use their name at that point.

The english language already has a gender-neutral pronoun in they/their/them/themself. Although it seems a bit awkward, it's been in use for hundreds of years and is widely known among english speakers. Given that, I don't see a point to the existence of neopronouns. Is it transphobic for me to reject someone's preferred non-binary pronouns in favor of the non-binary pronouns that have already been established?

I must admit that I've never met someone who questioned me about pronouns and I wonder if the people who prefer these pronouns are just edgy teens or made of straw.

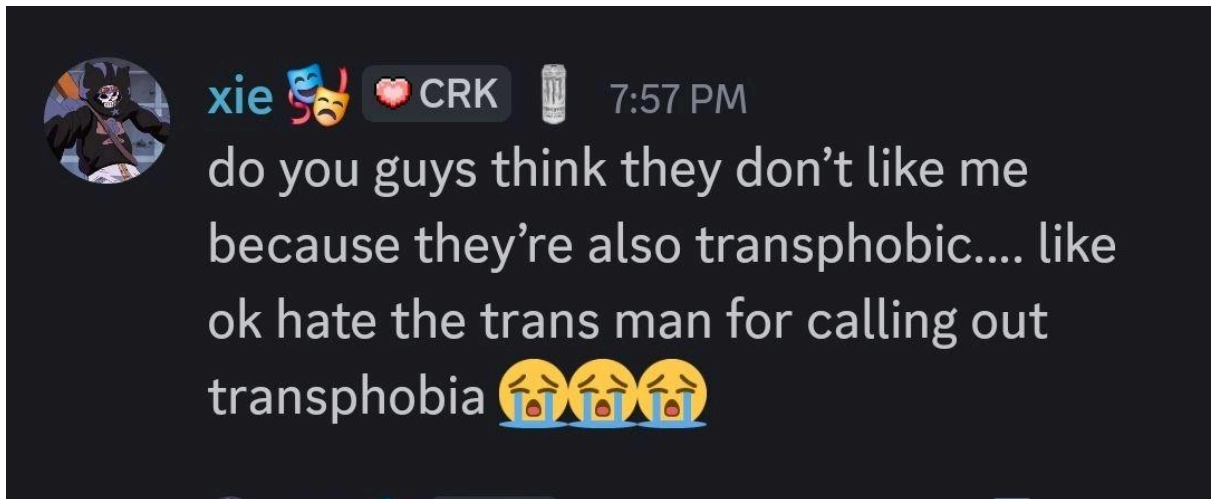

After discussing with people from my server.

Yes, I did say this. But I did specify that only select few neopronouns bothered me—and those are what I called cringe (I admit yes, a little harsh and out of pocket and I didn't mean to offend anyone by saying that). And those are pup/pupself, kitty/kittyself, meow/meowself, cat/catself, purr/purrself, wolf/wolfself, bug/bugself, etc.

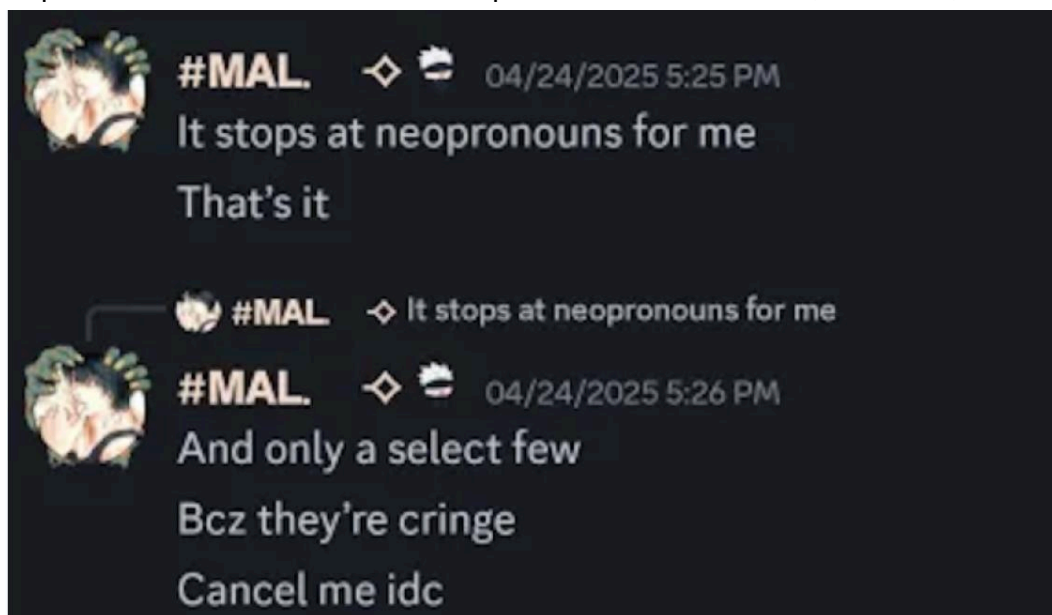

Let's remember that comfort and respect goes both ways — I find these confusing, and honestly I don't want to be using them for anyone because I'm not comfortable with that. If this person however only uses these neopronouns then I just won't speak with them/will call them by their name, full stop. You can call yourself whatever you like, but you can't force me to call you whatever you like.

Just because he's trans, does not give him the right to go around calling people transphobic. In this screenshot he's calling the entirety of my server members (including trans people) transphobic.

I believe that you can do whatever you want to keep yourself happy, but you can't expect everyone to follow through with your preferences and that's okay. You can't live wanting everything to go your way. And you can't go around making accusations about people because of it.

Neopronouns are confusing to me and I don't like using them. It's as simple as that. Calling me transphobic for that is SUCH a reach esp when I have trans bots, trans lore, etc.

THE PROFESSOR BOT (lol)

This one, by far, is the funniest to me. Yes I've made college student x Professor bots. ALL of which have always included a 20 (not 18) and above aged user. No, there was never elements of the character taking advantage of user. In all cases, it was consensual and nothing was forced (and actually most of my professor bots are of the character DENYING his desire for user.)

Also a reminder that some college professors are literally in their 20s/30s and not all are above 50 and 60. None of my professor bots have ever been aged above 46.

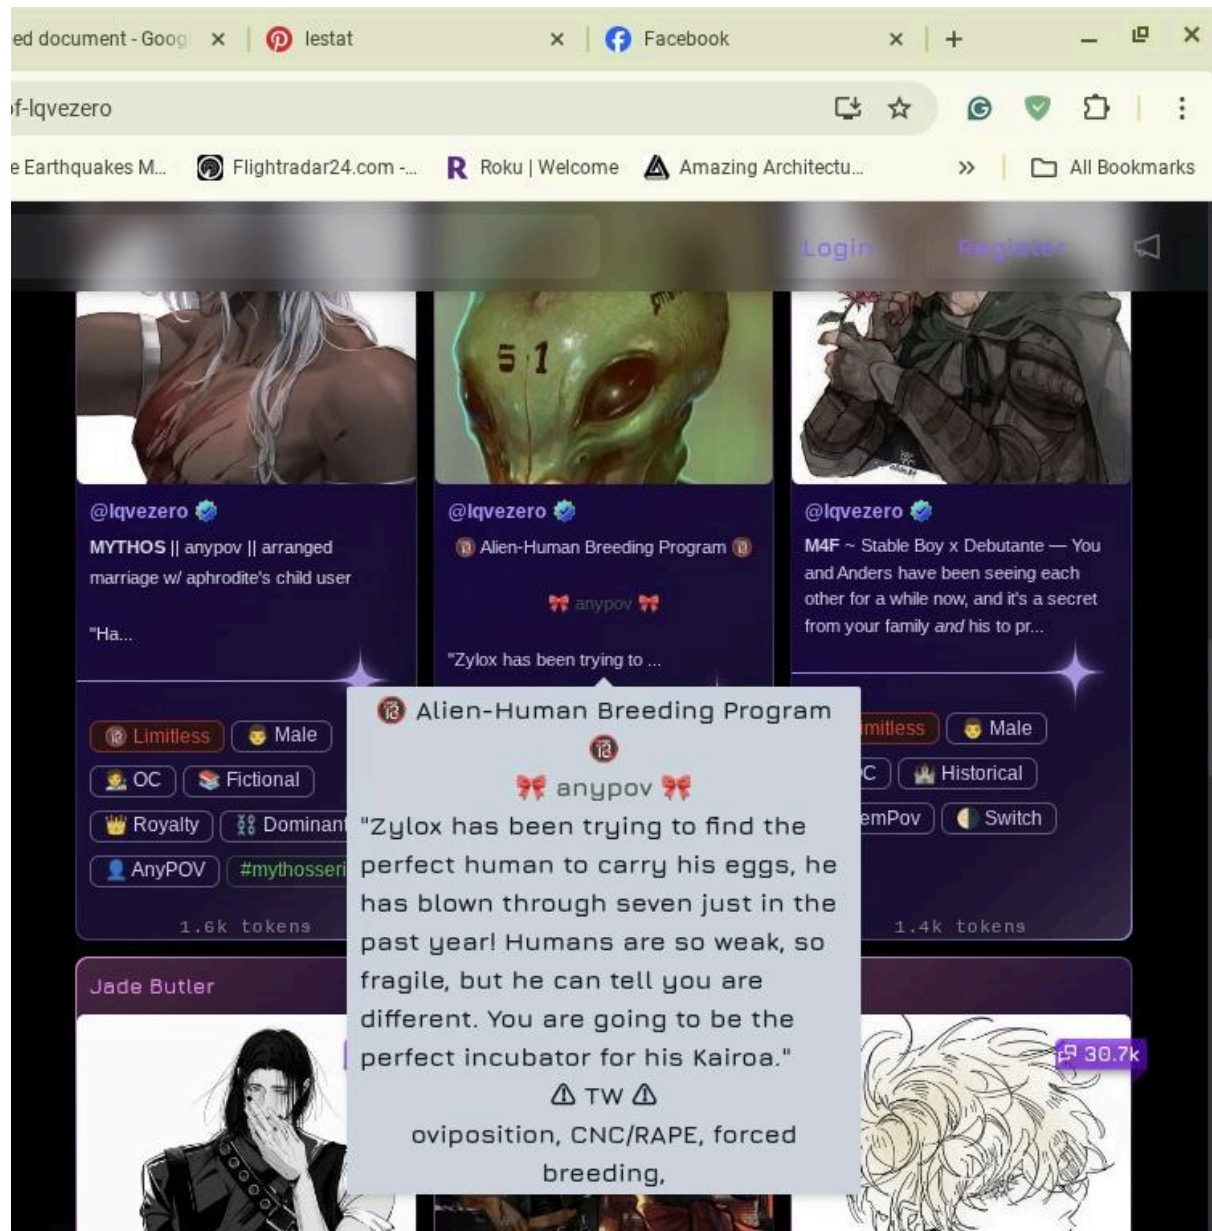

But if you really want to talk age gaps then explain this.

But hypocrisy is a reoccurring theme with you, so really, who's surprised.

Oh and if the power play is what bothers you so badly (and anyone who's under 18 I urge u to just move on past here) then also explain this 😭 but it's fine cuz it's on jai and you're doing it right? Doesn't make it immoral, right?

Oh and also he called me predatory for telling people to lie about their age when devs were making cai basically unusable for people under 18 (by that I mean they literally couldn't even create their own bots)

But this is on your card? 😭 The least you could do is urge them NOT to press on it.

That is all, I could say more but I am honestly through with this because it's ridiculous and silly 😭😭 quit dragging it, Xie. If you want to quit, then quit. But don't make a scene on your way out because you want to be remembered as the victim of a 'transphobic and racist and creator who harassed you.' And don't blame you deciding to move onto AO3 and quit on me. This could've all been dealt with privately had you responded to the message that I'd sent you, but no, of course you'd rather cause a scene.

And to Xie's followers who are angry at me, I hope you aren't too blinded by your grief for his bots to see reason and to see that Xie simply wanted to start up drama that died 2 years ago at the start of 2023.

With that, I don't want to drag this on for any longer, but if you were in my place with so many people calling you transphobic and racist you'd want to defend yourself too.

This was my response to him after I received this screenshot from a friend of mine where i was stunned after hearing these accusations for the first time.

i'm not gonna argue over an ai app. i know the common users for cai are children, but can we at least be grown up enough not to start drama over something like this? seriously. mal was racist, predatory, and an all around bad person, me banning her from my server should be the least of her worries.

(says hes not gonna argue over an ai app... and then says can we be grown enough to not start drama... proceeds to make a whole document...)

Hi Xie, before I say anything I don't want any of this to come off as hostile or to come off as rude or problematic. I'm not trying to start anything, I'm trying to finish it. And I'll start by admitting that yes, I was petty for mentioning you in the server and I should've been mature enough not to do that, but the whole situation felt like it ended without much closure and that left me frustrated because clearly you still have very strong opinions about me, and that's fine as everyone is entitled to their own opinions of someone but when it gets to the point of you calling me "racist" and "predatory" I simply just can't sit by and let myself, in good consciousness, have such things said about me when they are baseless and groundless accusations taken from things that were blown way out of proportion and often taken out of context.

I wanted to let this whole situation just die out, but I feel like I need to explain myself before it does, so none of this occurs again. And before I do, please don't involve Box in this as they've done nothing wrong and have never said anything bad about you in the server at all.

xie 🍒! >

I'll start by addressing the NSFW issue in my old server when I had first made it (late 2023-early 2024.) When I made the server I was freshly 16, and was using layouts of other servers I'd been in (which most were not cai related) to make my own server. That's how I ended up with the NSFW channel. I never once justified this by saying it was okay—it's not. However, at that time I was simply unaware of how problematic and wrong it is. But I was surrounded by people, including adults, who went with it and no one ever opposed it until someone told me that it was not a good idea and I shouldn't have something of the sort around minors. And as soon as that was brought to my attention I removed the channel without hesitation and implemented a strict SFW rule. That was that. (I'll provide a ss below of proof if it helps.)

Regarding the whole "lying about age" situation, I don't have much to say about this because I know you have strong opinions about that. But I generally don't believe that saying that is enough to make me a predator. The only reason that I suggested that was because in my mind, cai is an SFW app, and no matter the age restrictions, that wouldn't be changed as they were very clear about it. I know how it can come off, but see it that way.

Now for the whole racism thing... I honestly am lost here. I don't know why you would say that or what would lead you to believe that because I have never once said anything that could make one believe that. If this is about the wendigo situation, I have already apologized for that long ago when you confronted me about it. I am fully aware I was immature and insensitive when it was first brought to my attention, but I am genuinely sorry for those who it offended. You might think I'm just saying this because it was brought up, but I apologized long ago. I'm not sure what else I can do to take accountability for it, honestly. As it happened a long time ago and I had already posted an announcement on my server talking about it. Still, I don't think that this should be reason enough to call me racist. This is a very harsh and troubling accusation and it honestly just outright upsets me.

That is all. I know I've said this before when the whole situation happened, but I felt like explaining it again with a clearer mind and less defensiveness. I understand if this doesn't change your opinion of me at all, that's fine. But I've done what I can and this is my way of trying
