

Season 5, Chapter 11 – Supermarket Sweep

I am just so thrilled that we finally finished the thing. Now it's time to move on to something new! The Season has only just begun so there's a lot more in store for us this year!

Anyway, the curtain had fallen, the applause had faded, and the lights had dimmed. It was all over and that meant it was back to our normal, everyday lives. This of course meant that we had absolutely nothing to do, so Dennis, FlamDawg, Kotaro, and I were standing on the sidewalk outside the house, drinking Zepsi.

"Yep."

"Yep."

"Yup."

"Mmhmm."

"So now what?"

"I have no idea."

"There's nothing to do."

"I know."

"Well, I need to go to the store."

"Alright."

We threw down our Zepsi and went GTA V on this guy who was getting into his car. We stole his money, wife, and car, shoved his wife into the trunk and took off while FlamDawg stayed behind to beat him with a baseball bat. I steered us towards the mall and everything was calm and tranquil.

EIGHT SECONDS LATER...

Zack Hakton had taken over the car and was speeding through downtown. I was the only other person in the car; everyone else had been thoroughly decimated. I was clinging to my seat as Zack Hakton whipped the steering wheel back and forth. He took a sharp turn and started driving through the mall. People were running, screaming, flailing, and twerking. Those who were twerking got run over. Many background characters were smashed and I was freaking out.

“ZACK! WHAT ARE YOU DOING?!”

He smiled at me while still frantically whipping the steering wheel.

“Nathan, how many times have I done this before?”

I stared at him for a moment.

“...alright, just be careful. Don't run over any more background characters. I might still need those...”

FlamDawg, a main character, suddenly came into view and Zack Hakton stepped on the gas. FlamDawg slowly turned and saw us in slow-motion.

“WAAAAAAH!”

There were several loud thumps and grocery bags went flying. One had a build-a-bear inside. Zack Hakton stopped the car and backed up, thumping a few more times. He then hit the gas and we flew forward, thumping even more. We kept driving and I thrust my arm out the window.

“Onward! To the grocery store!”

Zack Hakton stepped on the gas.

So then! Our next grand adventure takes us to the grocery store! What with Zack Hakton coming along, things will certainly get... interesting. And yeah, probably in a bad way.

We sped through and tore up the rest of the mall which promptly caught on fire and exploded several times. Zack Hakton followed my instructions and refrained from hitting any more background characters, instead choosing to run over main characters. Just great. There was another loud series of thumps as we ran over Amber who had just gotten her weave did. This was followed by a loud tearing sound as the weave ripped off. Okay, that part was great. Um, I mean awful. Just terrible.

We broke through the mall and sped down the highway, crashing through several intersections before eventually Zack Hakton drove us straight into the local Family Mart. I managed to jump out the window before he crashed the car into a cardboard cutout that was placed right outside the entrance. Ironically, the cardboard cutout was of Zack Hakton striking a SEXY pose, one that the real Zack Hakton replicated live when he emerged from the exploded vehicle. We both stepped inside the store as several people ran for their lives away from the exploding car. I reached into my pocket, pulled out my shopping list, and looked it over.

“Alright, let’s see here... chocolate is the first thing on here. Big surprise.”

I started walking down the aisle where the chocolate was located. Zack Hakton followed... only, he didn’t walk. He floated. Why? Because he’s Zack Hakton. It’s Season 5 so you should know all this by now. As we walked down the aisle, Zack Hakton touched nearly everything that was on the shelves. Half of the products exploded while the other half turned into Zinventions, ready to kill any unlucky souls who dared to interact with them. It wasn’t long before several Little Bangs started to gather and glare at us from the other end of the aisle. It turns out that Zack Hakton was banned from this particular Family Mart and the Little Bangs were catching on. I’m honestly surprised we’ve gone this long without arousing suspicion. I mean, we literally crashed a car into the store.

Okay then! Why is Zack Hakton here again? To cause more chaos and destruction? That seems to be his thing! Also he is apparently required for us to end this Season. Hooray.

Not long after we arrived at the store, I was busy in my quest to buy groceries. Well, I was trying to buy groceries, anyway. Zack Hakton was causing a scene and hindering my progress. I was currently in the canned goods aisle, trying to decide on some soup. I was having a hard time picking a flavor so I chose to turn to my creative advisor.

“ZACK HAKTON!”

He aggressively twerked my way and I cringed in fear.

“Zack Hakton! Help me decide what soup we should have for dinner tonight! I was thinking Mushroom Noodal, but now I’m thinking Oasis Blend would be more appropriate considering the main dish is Hawaiian Steak.”

He touched both cans with a pudgy finger and they immediately turned into Zoup, ruined forever.

“No! Don’t... AAAH.”

He started floating away.

“Zack Hakton! Get back here!”

He twerked into the next aisle and I chased after him. A Bang was stationed in this aisle and he was on the lookout for Zack Hakton, Bringer of Chaos. As soon as Zack Hakton’s buttcheek rounded the corner, the Bang whipped around and stormed over to him. This did nothing to deter Zack Hakton, however, and he simply twerked right into the Bang and knocked him over. Zack Hakton was just too unstoppable.

“Zack, please stop.”

He started setting things on fire simply by being in the general vicinity of various everyday products. The Bang was dead on the floor; granted a swift death via Zack Hakton’s shapely rear end. I sighed, giving up and went back to shopping in the hopes that Zack Hakton would be busy elsewhere for a while. I rolled my little shopping cart down several aisles before arriving at the location of the next item on the list. Cereal. But wouldn’t you know; Zack Hakton was in that aisle. I ignored this and pushed on.

“Okay, Sarah wants some Honey Bunches of Oats...”

“They’re magically delicious!”

I grabbed a box of cereal.

“...and FlamDawg needs his FiyahBallz cereal...”

As I reached for that box of cereal, Zack Hakton stole the box of Honey Bunches of Oats that I was holding. He also somehow managed to steal my pants and shove them into the box without opening it. My pants were now a free prize. I noticed something was amiss the moment I felt the draft.

“Zack! NO!”

I took the box from him and he stole the other box.

“Hey!”

I took the box again and he stole the other one back.

“UGH.”

So then! Remind me again why I allowed Zack Hakton to come shopping with me? Correction: I did not allow him, he just came anyway. Because he's Zack Hakton and that's what he does.

I became absurdly flustered and smacked Zack Hakton in the face. For some strange reason, I got hit and Zack Hakton was unaffected. I went back to shopping and pushed the cart into the next aisle.

"Let's see... which mac and cheese did Amber want again?"

I noticed some juice and stopped to take a look. They had two favors: Mango Bitchslap and Coconut What Did You Say to Me?! I don't remember this brand. While I had my back turned, Zack Hakton floated over and put an expensive bag of candy in the cart. When I turned back around with the mac and cheese, I noticed the bag of candy.

"What the-? NO! We are NOT getting candy today!"

I picked up the bag of candy and flung it, sending it into an aisle in another world. I grabbed some cheese in a can and when I turned around again, a Bang was on fire and, more importantly, there was another bag of candy sitting in the cart.

"HEY! What did I say?!"

I grabbed the bag. Zack Hakton grabbed the bag.

"Let go! I'm putting this back!"

He did not let go.

"EHHHH!"

We both pulled on the bag. Soon there was a loud tearing sound and the bag split open, sending candy flying in all directions. Mostly all over the floor. Zack Hakton twirled around in a candy wonderland. It wasn't long before a Bang angrily stormed over to us.

"Excuse me, sir! You're paying for that!"

I took a deep breath and exhaled violently.

A FEW MINUTES LATER...

I happily strutted down the aisle, continuing my shopping experience. Zack Hakton was chained down in the cart and you could only see his eyes and a bit of hair.

"Now! What's next on the list?"

While looking over the list of stuff and things, I took a wrong turn and headed down the Hack aisle. The mass of chains in the cart began shaking violently.

“What the-?”

KA-BLANG! The chains instantly exploded, revealing Zack Hakton who was striking a SEXY pose! I gasped in horror, but did not have enough time to finish because I asploded. Zack Hakton sped down the aisle and scooped up a bunch of 2014 Hack Modules before putting them in the cart. One Module alone was worth about ten grand. With that completed, he floated into the next aisle.

Okay then! Look at that Zack Hakton go! Look at him! He’s on a roll! And let me tell you; being on a roll is the best possible thing you can be on in this novel! Get it going, son!

Zack Hakton just kept on going. It was like he was at Burger King; he was having it his way! He floated into the makeup aisle where Amber was stealing lots of lipgloss. Sadly we don’t have any dialogue for her in this scene so we’ll have to make some up based on what she usually says.

“Rainbows and stickers and ponies and MySpace.com!!”

Zack Hakton blew her up without so much as a glance in her direction. He grabbed some Lacy Shabelle eyeliner and floated into the next aisle. I ran in but I was too late and Zack Hakton had already moved on. Suddenly, a bunch of Beauty Bangs swarmed me and started putting makeup on my already-flawless face!

Zack Hakton floated into the next aisle which was strictly for princesses. He shouldn’t have been able to get anywhere near the aisle but, y’know, he’s Zack Hakton. So yeah, the Burger King thing again. It was Friday again so Princess Sarah was here, browsing the shelves so she could purchase a royal fork. You don't want to know what she did with the last one. She felt his presence and turned to see him aggressively twerking her way. He reached her fairly quickly much to her dismay.

“What do you want, peasant?”

“I am Zack Hakton!”

“...okaaay...”

“I am here to blow you up.”

“Oh REALLY?!”

She got all serious.

“WELL! I do not especially think so! I am Woman and Princess of Wohlsteim, theref-“

And he blew her up. It was at this moment that I entered the aisle looking more gorgeous than ever before. Such exquisite beauty allowed me to enter the normally restricted princess aisle. I was just that fabulous. I arrived just in time to catch Zack Hakton mid-twerk. I stole the cart back from him.

“No! Bad Zack Hakton!”

His head fell limp. With that, I wheeled the cart out of the aisle.

Well then! Why does this sort of thing always happen? It’s probably because this is The Story and the final Season is in no way different than the rest of the Seasons. Chaos everywhere!

I decided to look for some pants since Zack Hakton stole mine. It’s the main reason the Beauty Bangs didn’t swarm me for too long. I browsed around and tried to find some hip young jeans that would fit my hip young style. Suddenly, Zack Hakton burst out of a clothes rack!

“AAAAAAHHH!!”

He scared the pants back on me! I flung the shopping cart and ran out of there as fast as I possibly could. I entered the frozen goods aisle where Dennis was doing some shopping. He saw me and smiled.

“Hi!”

“Oh, hello. What are you doing here?”

“Just getting some lettuce for my Dark Taco. Gotta keep it fresh. Sooo fresh.”

“I haven’t seen you much lately aside from just being a background or group element.”

“Yeah... what with the play and all I haven’t really had much time for world domination or setting up BWOWN Moments. Maybe I’m done with all of that? I should really learn when to pull out.”

I stared at him, waiting for him to make his move. He just stood there for several moments before his face brightened.

“BWOWN, CHHK!”

“There it is.”

“Hey, do you know where I might find some cough drops? I feel like I’m gonna hack something up.”

BOOOOOOSH!!! Suddenly, Zack Hakton's face burst through the wall! Dennis went flying several aisles over.

"DID SOMEONE SAY HACKS?!"

"NO Zack Hakton! We were talking about a different type of hack!"

Zack Hakton's face contorted in a way that could only be described as... "angery". There was a deafening tearing sound as he stole my pants and floated back through the wall from whence he came.

"Hey! NO! I just bought those!!"

I jumped through the hole he created in the wall... and landed in the kitchen back at home, where Sarah was busy putting away the groceries I had brought home from the store. I just sat on the floor for several minutes.

"...what just happened?!"

Alrighty then! What DID happen, exactly? Did I go forward in time or something? I guess it doesn't really matter because it all ended on a positive note!