

Motivational Letter

Hello dear readers,

My name is Ekaterine Tlashadze and I am an English teacher who truly enjoys sharing knowledge, creativity, and positive energy with my students. Teaching English is not only my profession, but also my passion. Every lesson for me is a chance to inspire children and help them open the door to a new world.

I believe that learning should be fun, engaging, and meaningful. That is why I always try to use different methods, activities, and creative ideas in my lessons. My biggest motivation is to see how students become more confident, curious, and happy while learning English.

Through this blog, I would like to share useful resources, activities, and experiences that can help both teachers and students. I hope my posts will inspire you and make English learning more enjoyable.

Thank you for visiting my blog and being part of this journey!

With love,
Ekaterine Tlashadze
