

The Writing Center @ The Point

University of the District of Columbia

Fall 2024 Schedule

The Writing Center @ The Point is located on the 4th Floor of Building 71, 4250 Connecticut Avenue, Event Space 8. We offer tutoring services to UDC students looking for help with their writing projects. Both in-person and virtual appointments are available. See below for information about what we do and also to schedule your appointment.

We do:	We don't:
help you understand your assignments.	complain about your professors.
listen to and help you organize your thoughts.	dismiss your ideas.
guide you to writing and research resources.	write your assignments.
help you learn how to edit and revise your work.	proofread and edit papers.
encourage you to continue writing and editing.	ever discourage you from continuing to write, edit and clearly present your well-researched and informed perspective about your subject matter.
schedule 45 minute sessions.	schedule sessions longer than 45 minutes, as longer appointments may compromise the authenticity of your voice and your unique approach to the project.

We welcome all levels of writers—students just getting started on their assignments or students who just want another set of eyes to review work they have completed. Whatever the case, wherever you are in the process, come see us. We are your resource. We are here for you.

Make Your Appointment

Natalie Bridgewater is available on Tuesdays between 12pm and 6PM @ The Point for first-come/first serve in-person appointments. For other times, please visit the Calendly page to view availability and make your appointment: https://calendly.com/natalie-bridgewater/appointment?preview_source=et_card&month=2024-10.

Please provide at least one-hour advance notice for scheduled virtual appointments and a 24-hour advance notice for scheduled in-person appointments.

Dr. Helene Krauthamer is available on Fridays (depending on her schedule) between 12:30PM and 3PM for limited first-come/first serve in-person and virtual appointments, and scheduled in-person and virtual appointments. Dr. Krauthamer is located @ The Point in her faculty office (Office 4414) and in her virtual office during her designated available times at:

<https://universityofdc.webex.com/universityofdc/j.php?MTID=m7044d9014358170d18c01adbcaf9f91d>

Please email Dr. Krauthamer at hkrauthamer@udc.edu in advance (24 hours) to schedule an appointment.

If you are interested in being a volunteer tutor, please email Dr. Krauthamer at hkrauthamer@udc.edu.

Upswing (udc.upswing.io) is also available for around-the-clock help with all of your tutoring needs. Use your UDC credentials to login.