

As we already learned from the Supernatural episode, kink memes are a place where fans of a show go to post ideas for fanfiction that they're too lazy to actually write themselves.

However, different fandoms have different fans, and where Supernatural fans watch their favorite TV show and think: "This needs more dog cocks", Sherlock fans watch their favorite TV show and think: "This needs more discourse on the plight of the modern asexual. And dog cocks."

The main site for the kink meme is here:

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/>

The most recent prompt post is here:

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/21231.html#comments>

This document is divided up into sections based on recurring themes.

1. Asexuality

The Sherlock fandom has a large number of asexuals, most of whom believe Sherlock himself is asexual. Here are some examples of what they would like to read.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/9100.html?thread=44838284#t44838284>

Demisexual!Sherlock

Sherlock has always considered himself as asexual. John comes along and Sherlock realizes that he needs to form a strong emotional connection with someone, John, before he can become sexually attracted to that person. How does he deal with this and how does he go about trying to convince John that they should have sex now?

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/9640.html?thread=47340200#t47340200>

Asexual!Sherlock does wish to physically satisfy his boyfriend/colleague John, and he realizes that his quite good massage skills and very enthusiastic kisses won't be enough. So. He has replicas made of his erect penis and his arsehole.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/18842.html?thread=114260890#t114260890>

asexual!Sherlock/straight!John - Sherlock freaks out when John is about to move out

John's latest relationship is going really well, to the point where he is ready to move in with his girlfriend. But the day John is due to leave, it finally hits Sherlock that this is really happening and he explodes at John - asking why what they have can't be enough for him, what it is that makes sex so important, whether John really thinks he'll be happier with her.

There is long, angry and bewildered discussion about sex vs. love vs. intimacy vs. orientation, etc. Then Sherlock ends up giving John an ultimatum, saying that John's continued presence in his life will not be worth the ridiculous emotional upheaval if he isn't even going to stay. John's initial reaction is anger, but he deflates when he realizes that he can't choose his girlfriend over Sherlock.

Happy ending.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/6487.html?thread=31162199#t31162199>

Asexual!Sherlock/John established relationship.

John and a character of your choice talking about what it's like to be in a romantic relationship with an asexual and how it's totally worth all the compromises.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/15638.html?thread=86174742#t86174742>

Sherlock's first time with John (or ever) goes wrong...

They get to the naked part, and then Sherlock gets too cold so he puts his coat on. John's confused but fails to get his point across that he can ~warm him up~.

I'm thinking either Sherlock's asexual with the hopes of being demi-sexual and clearly not being, or sexually oblivious.

Humour and Angst, is that a thing? Not too heavy on the angst though. Please :)

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/10038.html?thread=51638582#t51638582>

Sherlock is very open about asexual. He's much less open about how he considers himself aromantic as well. Those kind of feelings just seem like a big distraction to him, and only ever seem to lead to ruin and gruesome murder. He feels lucky that he's never felt that way towards anyone.

And yet, he's been dating Lestrade for the last three years.

Because Greg seems to get it, even though Sherlock's never really said anything about it. Greg's never been one for big displays of emotion and had isn't particularly physically affectionate. He has no problem finding his sexual gratification with other people, so long as Sherlock knows just how in love with him he is. And it's clear to everyone, no matter how unconventional it may look from the outside, that Greg adores him.

Sherlock, well, Sherlock certainly likes Greg and enjoys his company, far more than anyone else he's ever met. He's perfectly fine with occasionally sharing his bed and it's not like he's disgusted by all the kissing. Dare he say, he's happy with their strange little relationship. He's sure it's the closest thing he'll ever feel to love.

Then Sherlock is kicked out of his old flat and, despite Greg's offer to move in, decides to take the place at Baker Street and find a flatmate. And meeting John Watson makes Sherlock realize that he had been very, very wrong about romance.

Cue Angst.

TLDR: Sherlock is asexual and aromantic but is dating Lestrade anyway. But John's the one who actually makes him fall in love.

And if we can somehow work out that he's more demisexual as well and include some S/J and/or S/L porn, I would love it forever. It's not necessary, but who can say no to porn?

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/12826.html?thread=69763866#t69763866>

John Watson is a lonely Doctor just returned from Afghanistan with injuries and mental issues. He's depressed as shit and keeps looking meaningfully at the gun he keeps in a drawer under his laptop.

Let's see what would happen if he had a Snarky Asexual Friend.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/12432.html?thread=65876112#t65876112>

So, we've had ace!Sherlock prompts aplenty and that's great. Love them. But I haven't seen any where the asexual community as a whole is mentioned.

Anon would love to see asexual Sherlock as a part of said community. Was thinking something along the lines of;

There is a smallish group of asexuals in London that meet up at the pub every couple of months to chat/ share experiences etc. Sherlock goes as well because, while these people are still average and stupid and dull, they understand a part of him that not many people get.

Sherlock doesn't tell anyone that he's ace, because it should be obvious (but really isn't).

John, for some completely different reason (going for drinks with mates, taking Sarah on a date) is in the same pub (other locale) at the same time as Sherlock and is utterly shocked to see him getting along with other people. Sherlock notices John is there and invites him over to meet his group.

Result is up to author, but happy 'Its all fine' ending with understanding John (he's a doctor, he's good at understanding) would be lovely.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/10852.html?thread=54902372#54902372>

Sherlock is asexual, but finds that nothing helps him relax and come down after a case like having his face fucked. By removing all other distractions and concentrating only on breathing, everything else fades away.

So! Give me Sherlock, on his knees, hands behind his back, with a cock down his throat. Having his hair grabbed and his head held still while someone slams their cock in and out of his mouth. Bonus points if you include a slight breathplay element, and if they come down Sherlock's throat, holding his head in place with his nose to their pubes. Fluffy aftercare is a must!

I'd prefer S/L, but S/J would totally work too.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/9100.html?thread=44745868#44745868>

John is 100% straight. Sherlock is 100% asexual. Except every full moon when he turns into a woman and is totally hot for John.

Bonus points if the first few times they sleep together John has no idea it's Sherlock. He just thinks it's some hot, crazy chick who keeps picking him up in a pub every month.

FYI I'm squicky about period play so please no "time of the month" for Sherlock's, well, time of the month.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/8651.html?thread=38293707#38293707>

Excerpt from an interesting conversation I just had:

"You're attractive. You're direct and honest, but you can be sly as a fucking fox. You're a runner, so you have a lot of stamina. You do yoga for Christ's sake! Why do you have to be asexual when everything points towards you being good in bed?!"

Now have fun with it.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/12432.html?thread=62932624#62932624>

A serial killer is going around killing asexuals, for reasons up to the author but for example, for the sake of carrying on the population/unhuman behaviour, whatever.

Sherlock is the killer's next target.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/14213.html?thread=78481285#t78481285>

Demi!Sherlock/Pan!John

I'm really interested in human sexuality, so I would love to see a Demisexual Sherlock and a Pansexual John falling for one another.

Perhaps even having a discussion on their sexuality's and any past attraction to any one?

Bonus points: If Sherlock and John also converse about how they discovered their sexuality's.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/11848.html?thread=59600456#t59600456>

Might be a bit of a taboo request...

Hey there, I'm an Ace!Prompter that would very much like for an author to work on a fic that addresses the fact that the DSM IV has asexuality still classified as a disorder (and usually leads to a diagnosis of Hypoactive Sexual Desire Disorder).

PORTAXX BONUS: Outlawroad's asexual Sherlock fic:

<http://www.fanfiction.net/s/7208516/1/The-Cuddle-Sutra>

"In which Sherlock orders The Cuddle Sutra; he and John explore some of the poses. Asexual!Sherlock/Straight!John established relationship, nonsexual romance . Part of my series: A Love with No Name. Totally gratuitous cuddle!fic."

2. Dog Cocks and Mpreg (Omegaverse)

This one requires its own explanation. At some point, Supernatural fanfic writers created the 'Omegaverse', an alternate universe that exists entirely to facilitate a particular genre of porn. The basic premise is that the population of the world is divided into 'Alphas' (guys who have dog cocks), 'Omegas' (guys who have self-lubricating asseholes, go into heat, and get pregnant), and in some cases, 'Betas' (guys who don't have any of these qualities or who have some combination from both categories).

Got all that? Good. Now, this obviously fits seamlessly into the Sherlock universe, so it's no surprise that it's one of the most commonly requested topics.

There's more about the universe itself here. The Omegaverse fandom could probably support a full episode (or ten) of its own, but for now: have some Sherlock prompts.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/20063.html?thread=120980575#t120980575>

Mycroft's Biological Clock, Omegaverse (Alpha/Beta/Omega mpreg), chubbychasing

I've been devouring omegaverse fics recently and a disastrous thing has happened - I have run out!!! @_@ In the absence of new things to read this plot bunny attacked.

Mycroft is an omega, meaning he goes into heat and is capable of getting pregnant. I'd actually prefer if male omegas had a vaginal slit beneath their smallish dick rather than a uterus attached to the large intestine, but I'll accept that if that's the writer's preference. Anyway in this version of the omegaverse omegas aren't physically aggressive the way alphas are, but they can definitely be controlling. Mycroft was raised with the idea that Alphas will always try to push him around so he can't give them an inch, and always should be one step ahead and buttoned up demurely. Unfortunately he didn't pick up the other half of the lesson about how he was supposed to find one he really got along well with and see if that could develop into love and a family.

Now, Mycroft is turning 30 or 35 and has the sudden realization that he's running out of fertile years and his life is barren and lonely. He thinks he is unattractive because he is overweight and plain and never learned to be charming or flirtatious or even friendly. He may not be the social disaster Sherlock (an alpha) is, but he just doesn't think there's anything really attractive or lovable about him.

So, we need an alpha love interest! Possibly Lestrade but I'm open to other options. The important thing is that the love interest likes Mycroft plump. And shows Mycroft exactly what he considers erotic about Mycroft's body, as well as lovable about Mycroft's personality. And the two of them greatly enjoy making a baby together.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/21231.html?thread=124613359#t124613359>

Sherlock is an Omega... and a vampire.

Everyone knows the status quo with regards to Alphas, Betas, and Omegas. But the existence of vampires is NOT common knowledge.

(Rest of longish!prompt is longish...tl;dr at bottom)

John is basically oblivious until [Sherlock forgets his suppressant pill due to a long case, or insert whatever trope you prefer here, as long as it results in...] Sherlock goes into heat and John is basically forced to jump his bones. (Oh, what a hardship-- as if they both haven't been pining for this for ages.)

This would be all well and good with Sherlock (despite his intrinsic dislike of his "inferior" gender, but if he had to be with SOMEONE, who better than John?), except that, well, you know, vampire and all that jazz. AAAAND... he's the kind that has to feed to have sex. (But... he goes into heat either way? D: Goshhhh that would suck)

So, yes. Sherlock in heat, John offering to "take care of him," Sherlock reeeeeeally wanting to say yes, but then having to explain the whole vampire thing-- or at least the "You need to let me drink some of your blood first" thing. And John being like "...and I get to fuck you, too? ...Sorry, is that actually a QUESTION?" and then proceeding to do so.

TL;dr - Basically, just Sherlock as a vampire AND an omega-- he doesn't like being an omega, but it's not necessarily a secret, but the vampire thing is. He has to feed to have sex, and when he goes into heat and alpha!John is all ready to help him out, he then has to explain about being a vampire and stuff, which he expects to weird John out. But then they have sex anyway.

[I would REALLY like to see vampire/omega!Sherlock though, preferably with alpha!John, but honestly the rest is optional.]

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/19743.html?thread=118647071#t118647071>

Reprompt from part 26 - Omegaverse -Scent Marking (...Or the things I think about.)

Omega!John goes into labour and gives birth with Alpha!Sherlock close by.

When their baby is born, who is the baby given too?

John, so that he can scent the baby and let everyone know that this is his kid or Sherlock because he is an Alpha, over protective and it's his job to scent mark the baby?

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/21231.html?thread=122895087#t122895087>

Moriarty is an omega who likes large, strong male alphas who easily take charge of him in bed. He has many men who fit this requirement in his organization, but he trusts none of them with his safety during heat.

However, he knows his favorite rival Sherlock has a very nice, kind, considerate alpha he's not using. Moriarty knows that John would never take advantage of him during his heat and being a former soldier makes him all the more appealing.

A day or two before Moriarty's heat starts, he kidnaps John and takes him somewhere where they can be alone together for the duration. Until his heat starts, he keeps John tied up, but since he's so close and Jim's very near his heat, he can't help but play a little and torment his new alpha with his growing sent.

Finally, Jim's heat comes, and John takes charge and Jim has a rather filthy mouth in bed (as omega's tend to during heat).

If you can, I'd like to read about multiple knotting and as detailed and sexy as you can make it.

Bonus: If you like, perhaps Jim likes having John be more than simply a one time alpha and intends to repeat this. Also, what does Sherlock think of all this and how much of this does John mind? Was he wanting a relationship with someone or with Sherlock?

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/16422.html?thread=97692966#97692966>

The first time Sherlock goes into heat, there's no one around to take care of him. Maybe alphas and omegas are both rare, maybe Sherlock is an exception. Either way, he needs to be knotted, and he'll do anything to make it happen.

Mycroft walks in on Sherlock being fucked by the family dog, because he needs the knot that bad. Whether Mycroft looks on in horror or scolds Sherlock (and possibly takes care of him himself?) is up to you.

Thank Mycroft for anon. I think my face is glowing, it's so red.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/16422.html?thread=95853350#95853350>

You know what's really hot about the omegaiverse? The world-building. This scenario jumped in my head and wouldn't get out.

Sherlock and John are both omegas. They enjoy sharing a flat. They look after each other, swap tips for badassing their way through a society that tends to treat omegas like sex objects, kick handsy alphas in the nuts for each other, and commiserate together over the awkwardness of omega sexuality.

When it turns out that their hormonal cycles have synched up from living together, they both go into heat at the same time.

Heat turns out to be a much less stressful experience when they've have someone to share it with who can't get them pregnant and doesn't think this now means they've sworn themselves to child-rearing and domestic life.

Also, inflatable knotting dildos are nicer when someone else is using them on you.

Fun bonus extras:

1: Since their bodies are wired for sexual submission, they find ways for both of them to bottom during sex.

2: Sherlock's not about to let going into heat put him off a case! And since John's hardly letting him go out alone like that, cue both of them shivering needily across London after bad guys.

And okay, pure shallow smut option: Somebody they know--pick anybody!--is an alpha and wants (or has!) them both. (Though now that I think of it, alpha!Irene domming them both into shaking, mewling submission with her girl!cock is...uhm, yeah.)

This is why God invented anon.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/20063.html?thread=120909407#t120909407>

John is a sixteen year old going through his first unexpected heat between Biology and Home Economics class. The former he loves and the latter is required for all Omegas. He hides away in his car - hoping not to be scented by any Alphas.

Sherlock is a fourteen year old who comes from a long line of wealthy Alphas. Sadly, him and his brother were both born Betas - breaking a long line of Alpha heirs.

Sherlock has had a secret crush on John since he first entered the school at the beginning of the year as a freshman. So it's no surprise that he followed him out to the parking lot when he didn't go back to class.

The smell, feel taste of John's heat overwhelm's Sherlock - which is strange since most betas aren't affected by it. John is also surprised when he starts scenting an alpha very close by only to find Mycroft's little brother right outside of his car.

But somehow Sherlock Alphas out and the two scent, taste and almost mate. They are pulled apart by Lestrade and Mycroft after the bug Mycroft keeps on Sherlock alerted him that his brother was in the car park - possibly trying to skip school again.

Both John and Sherlock's parents comes in. John's parents are horrified that their son almost got mated during his first heat. However, Sherlock's parents are only please that they're son is now an Alpha - at an early age to boot and offer a future marriage proposal to John's parents that they would have to be crazy to say no to.

How does the rest of John and Sherlock's high school like play out now that Sherlock is the youngest Alpha on campus and John is the youngest omega on campus to be engaged to marry once Sherlock becomes 16 or 18.

AND WRITE.....

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/20063.html?thread=120851295#t120851295>

I can't believe I'm prompting Omegaverse

Like some female primates, Omegas in heat tend to get rather more assertive than usual, although the extent of this depends on the individual.

Option A: Mainstream society tends to ignore this little fact because it doesn't accord with common notions of Omega sexuality, leaving Alphas and Betas who got most of their sexual education from porn somewhat confused when they encounter the real thing.

Option B: This is well known, and is the basis for much low humor, as well as showing up in a lot of in-universe porn.

I'd like to see one of these options explored, with some humor, and no institutionalized sex slavery or anything like that. Pairings are up to the writer, but please give a major role to Molly.

3. Asexual Dog Cocks and Mpreg

The world's most obvious combination, am I right? I've limited this section to only three, but don't think for a second that it's because there aren't more of them.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/15638.html?thread=89562902#t89562902>

Asexual!virgin!Sherlock is a beta and quite happy with that, seeing how alphas and omegas seem perpetually preoccupied with breeding and bonding. Omega!John has never shown any sexual interest in Sherlock whatsoever.

Then, a case goes awry, Sherlock and John get stuck somewhere on their own, and John goes into heat.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/19351.html?thread=115120535#t115120535>

Any universe in which human males can go into heat (werewolves? Omega? I don't really care.) Sherlock belongs to the portion of the population who can go into heat, but still identifies as asexual.

When he's on a case or otherwise absorbed in something interesting, he's perfectly capable of going into heat and not actually noticing something's up until he belatedly realizes "oh, so that's why the room temperature everywhere seems to have risen a few degrees and the people around me are acting even more irrational than usual." Physical urges are just transport, after all.

When there isn't anything terribly interesting going on - well, that's what sex toys are for. There's no need to bring in another person just to scratch a hormonally induced itch, particularly when one doesn't really find other people sexually interesting.

Feel free to take the story in any direction that strikes you, although I would like some exploration of what it's like for Sherlock being asexual in this kind of cultural context.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/21231.html?thread=123162607#t123162607>

Alpha!Sherlock and Omega!John are bonded, but not mated due to Sherlock's asexuality. They handle John's heats with toys and lots of cuddling.

Up to filler if their scents are mingled just as much as if they were mated and nobody knows they aren't, or if they're open about the state of affairs, or if they use false scent... Take this where you like.

4. Misc.

And here's everything that didn't fit into the other categories.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/21231.html?thread=123558127#t123558127>

Sex and Siblings, aka: Mycroft is a dick and wants Sherlock to know it

The problem Sherlock has with Mycroft is that he is quite a vulgar person in speech and attitude towards other people and goes above and beyond to inform Sherlock of his sexual interests. Mycroft saying such as how much he likes pussy in conversations is quite common conversation between brothers, much to the irritation of Sherlock, who is just interested in normal conversation. He does not want to know anything about Mycroft and his dick or what he prefers.

Then comes that day all those years ago when Mycroft asks Sherlock if he can use his computer. Reluctantly he does so. When his brother is finished and leaves for bed, Sherlock checks his history.

Lo and behold, Mycroft had nothing important to do except check his triple x dating site and have nasty conversations with other people as he arranged to meet them for sex. Sherlock was well aware that Mycroft was using a sex dating site, but Mycroft tried to pass it off as a simple dating site before. Sherlock may be the youngest, but he's certainly not stupid; and it's certainly not like either of them aren't adults and Mycroft can do what he likes with his life and body. However, why does it need to be Sherlock's business? Why Mycroft feels this is okay is beyond him.

Rightfully pissed, Sherlock tells his brother not to do that on his computer. That's not what he borrowed it for and that is diffidently not what you use your younger siblings computer for.

Mycroft says he won't, and that sates Sherlock for the moment...till the next day when Mycroft has to do something important followed by even more sex site browsing.

Completely Gen. How it resolves, if it resolves, is up to you.

This is what my brother just pulled on me, even after I told him I didn't want that shit on my computer. If he wants to use it again, fuck him, I'll slam the top on his fingers. The 'relationship' I have with my brother in a nutshell. *sigh*

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/17487.html?thread=107784015#t107784015>

Realistic Virgin!Sherlock

Can I have realistic portrayal of virgin!Sherlock rather than the everyday I'm-in-love-with-John-and-awesome-so-it's-cool version? I'm talking about Sherlock trembling and being shy and needing breathers and breaks for water. Also, not just jumping right in but slowing building up to full penetrative sex rather than just starting there. Also him being scared and unsure and overwrought and actually hurting after. Most important, the emotional fall out after the act (with cuddles). Pairing preferred with John or Lestrade.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/21231.html?thread=124014575#t124014575>

Both Sherlock and John visit the same local glory hole on a weekly basis.

Neither of them know that they're both visiting the same place.

- John goes because he loves to suck cock. Especially the beautifully long, thick, pale cock who regularly visits.

- Sherlock goes because he loves having his cock sucked by strangers, especially the man with the gorgeously talented mouth.

This carries on for weeks, until one afternoon when Sherlock is in the shower, John hears him making the exact same sound his favourite client makes when he comes.

John doesn't mention what he's figured out, and waits until Sherlock has gone out that evening before visiting the glory hole again. Sure enough his favourite cock is back and when John makes him come, he makes an identical sound to Sherlock.

How does John react to the realisation that his favourite client is, and has always been, Sherlock?

-----

TLDR; John regularly sucks Sherlock off at a local glory hole without knowing it's him, until one day he works it out.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/21231.html?thread=124225263#t124225263>

Johnlock, watersports

John and Sherlock are newly in a relationship (possibly - ideally - starting in the fic) and Sherlock has discovered that the very best thing in the world may be sucking John's big fat cock. He loves it so much that he likes to drag it out, and that if he has to take a piss, he is not going to waste valuable cock-sucking time and risk John getting bored by getting up. He'd let John know about his decision to piss the bed, but that would involve taking his mouth off John's cock.

And John would be angry, except Sherlock is REALLY good at giving blowjobs, and after he gets over his initial shock/displeasure at having to clean up, he's really mostly just upset that he didn't realize it was happening.

Feel free to tweak details (I really like the idea of them being in bed, but they could also be on the sofa, or Sherlock could be on the ground and pissing on the bottom of the sofa, a pile of clothes, or John's feet; John could need coaxing into liking it or only grow to like it over time, or maybe like the idea but hate the cleanup enough to insist on some measures to make it easier, or something), and continue from there as you wish.

Bonus: if Sherlock has already gotten off and is soft when it happens; if at some point they come to John pissing in Sherlock's mouth so a blowjob can keep going; if John's first concern, besides the mess and that attitude that led to it, is for Sherlock's distressed bladder.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/19351.html?thread=115215511#t115215511>

Anglerfish

Molly is infected with a genetic modifier that causes Sherlock to be extremely attracted to her pheromones.

She thinks this is groovy until he physically attaches himself to her and atrophies into a parasitic sack of gonads ready to impregnate her when her body is ripe.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/21231.html?thread=124397039#t124397039>

OCs/Dimmock, Sherlock/Dimmock - threesome/gangbang, dub-con, (maybe more non-con?), voyeurism

Somehow (I don't care how, I'll leave it up to the author) Sherlock has to watch criminals having their way with a drugged!Dimmock. Sherlock ends up being aroused and getting off on it (hidden somewhere).

Bonus for a lot of manhandling a drugged!pliant!Dimmock into numerous positions for better dick access, rimming, spit-roasting, deep throating, bukkakke and all the nasty things.

C'mon guys, Dimmock needs more love around here!

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/21231.html?thread=124823535#t124823535>

Fem!Moriarty X fem!Sebastian/fem!Sherlock (warning: possible dub/non-con)

"Ever been fucked with a loaded gun?"

*Would prefer it if it were fully informed, enthusiastically consensual!!

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/21231.html?thread=124571887#t124571887>

Common Misconception about Female Monthlies

Okay. I don't mean to be incredibly rude, but the period!fics with a Fem!John or Fem!Sherlock have been continuously representing the female population that do have emotional fluctuations or extremely heavy periods, or a period that is just awful and Woe Is Me painful.

I would like a fill where Female Sherlock or Female John are on there period and are fucking awesome with themselves. Like " yeah I have a tampon up there, can I please go back to deducing?" or "Yeah there's tampons on the toilet; have you seen my stethoscope?"

Because I'm a female and those females that don't have cramps, or don't need to be coddled to get through a menstrual cycle are not represented enough. Plus it's good PR for females in general. Not all of us are bitches.

Again. I don't mean to be rude. But the other side of periods need to be represented too.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/19743.html?thread=119608095#t119608095>

Twisted Dark future prompt TW: Slavery & abuse of all sorts

Happens many many centuries later in fantasy London where women are kept as slaves are differentiated into categories such a breeders, mistress or play things, servants,cooks, nannies,etc while the world is run by men. Men are allowed to be married only to other men (which had become the norm for the past few centuries) to help the merger of big big business houses and keeping the so called weak minded useless women out. It was started by the rich people and soon spread to all strata of people and now only men and men can marry even according to law.

And single men are a huge taboo and are married of as early as possible by their dads. if they still want to remain single, they would not be given houses on rent- according to law.

Rich Men who have a slight liking to women can keep them as mistress slaves. And use breeders to create new heirs when necessary. Females are again sold off as slaves while sons are kept as their offspring with nanny slaves taking care of them.

And there in this world lives two sexual deviants- John who is not much interested in men or to say more accurately had never been inclined to try and is too decent enough to keep a mistress slave. And Sherlock who is for all intents and purpose -an asexual.

Somehow the two deviants meet and enter into partnership to help them make their life easy by easing down on their 'single men' tax and also get a house on rent. Then one day they find a run away slave Alina, some how agree to keep her as their 'house keeper' slave since Mrs. Hudson was getting old. John starts to develop feelings towards her but is reluctant to pursue her because he doesn't want her to called a 'mistress' slave or any slave for that matter. Sherlock is indifferent in any case. His only condition is that John remain with him for all his adventures, and if he wants to bring somebody else along is totally is John's wish.

So they embark on a risky escape with the Govt including Mycroft against them for ruining a running plan. They want to go to somewhere else where John is free to marry Alina and Sherlock can remain as his best friend and housemate.

-----
 Anything else which is still ambiguous can be filled with the information of choice by the author. Names of people and places can be changed as they wish. Could make it a story on another fictional planet too...

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/19351.html?thread=115071383#t115071383>

Milking and come play, incest

Mycroft ties Sherlock up and gives him a delicious, slow hand-job. When Sherlock is close to coming, he ceases all stimulation, so that Sherlock doesn't orgasm and remains hard while the come oozes out.

Then he does it again. And again.

He smears the come on Sherlock's face, which is why he has such a beautiful complexion.

Sherlock loves the tenderness and attention.

<http://sherlockbbc-fic.livejournal.com/20063.html?thread=121485407#t121485407>

Military kink roleplay (or AU) and possible gang-bang.

John's the commanding officer, Sherlock's the new recruit conscripted to be the entertainment in the officer's mess.

Basic training for him consists of regular canings to increase his endurance, lots of stretching plugs and enemas so his hole is ready and clean to military standard, learning how to lick boots to a perfect shine, correct posture when used as a footstool, cocksucking drill, and regular prostate milkings to keep him dry until he learns not to stain his superior officers' uniforms with unauthorised cum.