Meeting notes

- Praxistreffen 2022 will include an overview about community call activities, presented by call attendants. An overview on current projects in Work In Progress, would be worthwhile, as well as another overview on main differences between DSpace7 and DSpace-CRIS 7
- A brief clarification about the concept of "Role" in workflows: its meaning and how it can be configured or extended behind the current standard configuration of "scope", in order to include members of a given group to users entitled to perform a workflow task

Meeting Questions and Answers

- Custom URL: is there a way to have the list of defined custom url for a given entity? They are visible in Entity's submission form custom-url panel, and are a metadata of the Item itself: 'cris.customurl' and 'cris.customurl.old'
- Custom URL: How can be configured? To entitle an user to set a custom url for a given entity, custom-url panel can be added to one of its submission form (new submission, edit,...)
- Custom URL: Is there a way of define it from 'dc.title' metadata value? Yes, we have a consumer entity driven. When an entity of one of types defined in 'cris.custom-url.consumer.supported-entities' property is created or updated, it creates its custom-url based on value of 'dc.title'. If this Item already has a custom-url defined, it is replaced by the new one.
