

CFCU communications works to unify our wide-sweeping membership with stories and resources, as well as inform the larger community about how faith communities are advocating for gun violence prevention. Our digest will not include personal fundraising efforts, endorsing a certain political candidate. Articles are suggested to be 250-500 words in length and fact-checked. Please include a link to the source if you are including a direct quote.

Inappropriate materials, as deemed by the CFCU Communications team, will not be published.CFCU.

CFCU communications limits the use of its publications and marketing materials to the purpose of promoting the mission of the organization. Members or outside persons may not use CFCU communications to promote their personal or business agenda.

Final decisions about what is included in the Digest belongs to the Communication team and the editor of the Digest.