

I Am Creative

Enrique is a fun and cool friend because we play some games with each other and we both like to play soccer outside of my house. He has black hair like me and his skin is peal, but he is not the tallest person but thats fine. He makes me laugh and puts a smile on my face.

This is the story of me and Enrique. We were trying to decide on what to make or build something, Enrique is a fun and funny friend, he has black hair, and we meet in church. but we just decided to build a lego set with him just because we were bored and we both like Lego. And this was only the fun thing we did together as friends. He was great at building legos, and I was excellent at reading the instructions. You could say we made a great team.

Enrique and I had one problem: the time was ticking and we only had like two to four hours or so to complete the task. I told him, "We should just go and see how far we can make it without wasting time!" Still, some lego parts fell off the bed which was not a good thing at all. We could have lost some important pieces but both of us checked my bedroom and the floor in my room and we did not lose any lego pieces.

We faced a problem which was that sometimes Enrique would go to the restroom which was kind of wasting our time to finish the lego set. Sometimes, my younger siblings came into my room to annoy us and get us distracted which was another worry for me and Enrique. Also, my mom told me and Enrique, "It's time to eat some food." We both said yes so we took a little break with the lego set. I told Enrique, "eat fast so we can finish the lego set." So Enrique and I agreed to eat a little faster and drank some cold water. The water was really refreshing and made me calm and relaxed.

Enrique and I felt shocked that we were able to finish the lego set in a short period of time. Once we finished the lego set, my mom said that Enrique was leaving. Enrique and I were so proud of ourselves for accomplishing this goal together.

I learned that just because you have a short amount of time doesn't mean you can't accomplish something fun with yourself or with a friend. I choose to be creative because I enjoy crafting and building things in my free time which is very fun. Sometimes I do some crafts with family and friends which can be fun. Me being creative helped me and Enrique help us by finding a creative way to to finish the lego set with a sort time period.
