

Kanjo - Alas, I suppose being the first one booted has some merit and name to it. Being on different tribes didn't help much either. I wish we could have interacted.

---

Signun - Well, you set out to pre-swap flop, and that you did. Looking forward to your inevitable flop in second chances. (Of course, flopping isn't advised, so do try your hardest.)

---

cjn104 - Oh man, it broke my heart when you got eliminated. You were one of the only guys that gave me a chance with my ridiculous game ideas and concepts back in the good old days. I wish we could have spoken more.

---

whatevereva - The first OGozo casualty. Unavoidable, but sad nonetheless. It was fun working together on the same tribe while it lasted.

---

kyshe - Unfortunately, I didn't get to talk to you, as we were never on the same tribe, so I can't say much. Wish we could have interacted.

---

Dared - Oh dared...a victim of paranoia and desperate measures. As the 2 youngest on OGozo, I feel like we really developed a bond. It was sad to see it all crumble during our first tribal. I look forward to playing with you in the future.

---

ZodiacBeast - Another person who I didn't get to talk to because of the tribes. Again, wish we could have spoke.

---

nicholasrulez - The first victim at merge. I feel for you, mainly because this was almost me. I thought we had a decent bond, broken by our clashing sides. It was fun while it lasted.

---

benfox2 - Ooh boy, your elimination was a dramatic one. I wish we had a better bond, I feel like most of our conversations were just trying to mend bridges after lying....and they never got fixed. Wish things could have been better. Hope to see you around.

---

jbomber732 - A good friend and a great ally, gone too soon. We had some good battles on the swap Manoel tribe, and a strong bond. I honestly didn't want to get you voted out so early, but after the rumors of a double jake alliance that had an idol, I didn't have much of a choice. I definitely appreciate your taste I games (BTD). It's sad to see you gone, but it was definitely fun surviving with you.

---

HighSpace - The Canadian challenge beast himself. The person who essentially carried the entire OGozo tribe through thick and thin. I have immense respect for you, even back in my previous phase. You definitely deserved to go farther in this game, but alas the wheels of fate have turned, and sadly you weren't involved. I hope we can meet again on the battlefield (and preferably on the same side so you can carry again :P)

---

JacobBanana - Fellow brother in idols, it was fun playing with you. As a fellow Canadian (contrary to what the cast reveal said), I salute you comrade. Despite some of our conversations being slightly shorter, I think we really hit it off. And that conditional idol play man...I'd never even heard of it before. All in all, I think you're a great person, and I look forward to seeing you around, around ORG land, and potentially in real life too.

---

39Daleks - Oh man, it's been a bumpy ride. I remember almost hating you because of the whole trivia situation (though in hindsight it was probably me being salty about getting 3 hours of sleep that night), to having in depth discussions about the English language. That was extremely fun banter. Once I attempted to actually reach out and really talk to you, you turned out to be a really cool dude. I wish I had reached out earlier, we had the potential for some real philosophical discussions, and maybe you'd even still be here today. I hope we can play again some time in the future.

---

Otherscott - The final Canadian castaway, and another OGozo. The freshest elimination on our minds, and also one of my closer allies since the beginning of the game. Also a name I recognized from way back when. It was really hard voting you out, considering we've been allied for most of the game, and I feel like our bond has only strengthened since then. Sadly, it seemed to have led to us having to resort to turning in each other in order to survive. I hope that we can play together in another game, it was a blast.