

REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH COALITION

The Reproductive Health Coalition (RHC) is a wide-range of health professional associations and allied organizations who advocate with a unified voice to protect access to essential reproductive care. The tenets of this work include: a patient's right to dignity, autonomy, privacy, and the expectation of a trusted relationship with their clinician; protection of the clinician's ethical obligation to provide care, including their access to comprehensive training; and a commitment to an evidence-based approach to policy and practice.

The RHC fellowship program will build advocacy skills to navigate complex discussions around reproductive healthcare. As a RHC Fellow, you will learn how to lean into your caregiving experience and effectively communicate in a way to depolarize abortion conversations, allowing listeners to let down their defenses and have authentic conversations. This creates the conditions for audiences to really hear us rather than shut us out. More importantly, it also creates the conditions for people to shift, and become more supportive of abortion care.
