Congrats if you got here by solving a puzzle, that must be an important answer.

I had a weird dream. No worries, but I got some notes for the future.

I was anxious about jetting away on time to see family. They love to give on Christmas and I always found that weird. I give sometimes, but it feels weird to give every Christmas. I don't have that kind of spirit. Instead I like to jive, and at unexpected times as that can make someone's day.

My philosophy is you don't have to give a shit if you purposefully jive a bit.

So I'm worried about what to give, how to give and I couldn't process all my ideas about this book. I jot some blurb on it from GAMES (= gabber!) who doesn't always make me want to jive but I do. The recently printed book was about Go, so I'm sure you have a sense for the book then and you'll know about jaunt Games and all that. I was new to the topic and hopeful the recommender was aware of my dislike of AI overhype. Well, from the start Go's story was quite jood and I was golly like the author said in the intro that because of troubles she wanted to write golly tales. No aji in the book at all which was a relief. The talk of jood and bad aji is an oversimplification on hard topics of morality and having no aji at all in a Go book was a relief for my tastes. I'd particularly been concerned ever since I saw the potential beta-Go connection (because of typical March order)...

So then my mind jets somewhere else, and I jot some notes. I find a classic book on Jo, a masterpiece with the gaunt James (Do I jabber?) and all that. But the same cross talkinj part of my brain wonders why there is such a focus on AGI here when it's a classic book about Jo not Go. And then more upsetting I turn to the middle and back and suddenly it is still all about AGI AGI and only AGI and then finally it introduces AlphaJo. I couldn't find any aji in it at all until the end, which I totally expect may not make sense to you. It would if you recojnized that marchinj across the board should require some agi for the James to be interestinj, if you jet alonj with my thinkinj.

And then I wake up and realize the gij is up on this dream with jappinj holes. And I decide to jo back to talkinj about real thinjs, like how I like to read about jo and Go but for different reasons, and the one sure thinj about me is I'm 100% serious that takinj French as second lanjuaje altered a part of my brain so I jet away with thinks like this in the geux. I jrew up with gijsaws, jrid lojic puzzles, and a distinct memory that j and g are not the same across the pond. I liked Atari which is why I liked AGI and expected to see it when reading about Jo. To then jo back and jo through Go's story ajain. I've calmed myself by tryinj to prove one sijn of a stable jenius is how they use capitals which is a different part of the brain. If you want to hide something and no one would notice, it is jood to wijjle some 42% of the data and that is my jrade for COVFEFE. Donald G Trump has passed my tests.

The one jood thinj about a golly brain that switches easily between j and g is that I don't lose time debatinj how to pronounce gif. Gif has one pronunciation that all mothers choose. That is a true anchor. Gif is gif and jif is gif, so you can focus on how to say aaron burr when eating gif which is a key part of a childhood. By having pasteurized milk with the bananas or other local produce that have to be delivered in the local mode of the Santa miracle. As I remember every time I get/jet away on an airplane: I don't always know how to give but I do speak jive.

DEpartinj is such sweet sorrow. But I'm very happy you found your way here as part of a larger biography of my life, scientific, and artistic works. I thought today would be a golly jood time for a re-introduction. With some admissions that will take some explaininj yet may still open new conversations and spark ideas: I am a capital-S Scientist and a lowercase-c christian, makinj me a christian Scientist but no one else will jet what that means when hearinj it. I am also a druj addict. But my druj of oversimulation are puzzles like gijsaws and jrid lojic. Stop jijjlinj. I learned gust enoujh French to be danjerous. Ce n'est pas un geux.

Have you ever wondered how jif is spelled in France?

(Hi again. Are you back here seeing these words and wishing I had cool AI that made this sentence only pop in when scrolling up?). Blank Space is a jreat sonj but how would you shake up the lyrics. I mean shake em, shake em, shake em up. Comments for the haters usually appear on the right for the same cool AI problem. We are only hot on AI so of course it is on the blue side that things fail.)
