

My Writing goal (from your Goals slideshow):
My style of writing:story
Planning/Thought Shower:

Start writing here...

In the town of Unhappiness on the top of the town were stars so beautiful that you could see your relatives. Everyone thought that it was dangerous, but this one girl called Dream was different from the others. She has a dog called Jake. He is a k9 but that k9 was not a normal dog either. It has the power of shadows. It was a rare breed that has only 10 left in the world.

Dream had a father named Jack and he was beautiful. Dream had a mum but she had died when Dream was born.

One time she went to the top of the town and found people up there were the same age. About 10 years old. Those people were just like her. They thought it was beautiful and not dangerous. they became good friends then. "hey! What are you doing up here" the workers said then they took them to the man in charge called Juggles. He was the man that took all the happiness away that's why it's called unhappiness town but no one can defeat him but they saw the happiness in a big large bowl. They got released and they got a plan. They were going to steal the happiness. They set up everything they got gadgets like lasers, ropes, cameras and hammers so it can break the bowl of happiness they were ready to attack. Now they are on the top of the roof.

Through the vents they put the camera on the dog so they can see the dog where it goes. Jack went to the hideout then turned into a shadow and took out the guards. "Woof" yelled Jack. "That's our sigal" whispered Dream. They used the ropes to climb down and took out the Juggles. Yay everyone said in happiness