

Rawe Ceek by Roshan Shibu

The World's Simplest Privacy Policy

Rawe Ceek does not collect your personal data.

I simply did not write any code to do that because there is no use for it. Rawe Ceek's only purpose is to give you session times and other information, and it does not need anything back from you to work.

The only data I see about Rawe Ceek users are those collected by Google. This includes information like crash reports, download patterns by country, reviews and rating information etc. None of this data contains any personal information other than what is already made visible by you like your username in Google Play reviews and your device information in crash reports.

You know my name, my contact information, what I do for a living and two of my interests.

I have no idea who you are.

Rest assured you probably know more about me than I do about you.
