Primary Care & Walk-in Clinic Resources: Ottawa

Family medicine in Canada and Ontario is in trouble. Right now, 2.5 million people in Ontario don't have a family doctor. By 2026, about 1 out of every 4 people might not have one. We know it's frustrating to find the care you need, and our emergency department is doing everything we can to help.

You can also help by speaking to your local and provincial leaders and asking for better family doctor services in your area.

To help you now, we have listed some community resources and steps you can take to get care in Ottawa. This is not the same as having your own family doctor, who knows you and your health over time, but we hope it will help you get the follow-up care you need after your visit to the emergency department today.

How do I find a family doctor?

As an emergency department, it's very hard for us to keep track of which family doctors are accepting new patients. There is no single system for this, and the hours, locations, and doctors often change because of things like moving clinics or closing practices. Still, here are some steps you can take:

- 1. Register on HealthCare Connect
 - O Option # 1: Healthcare Connect at 1-800-445-1822, Monday to Friday, 9am-5pm.
 - o Option #2: Register online: https://hcc3.hcc.moh.gov.on.ca/HCCWeb/faces/layoutHCCHomePage.jsp
- 2. Joint waitlists of family doctors in your area, usually by calling the clinic or registering online. These clinics are often looking for new doctors and will add people to their waitlists when they find one.
- 3. Use the website www.iamsick.ca filter by "Family doctors accepting by new patients". However, we recommend checking the clinic's website (if available) or calling them to get the most current information, as this can change often.
- 4. Join the Facebook group "Ottawa Doctors Search" and your local community neighborhood Facebook groups. These groups are where people share information about family doctors who are accepting new patients. They are often the first to know about openings. You can also find posts about available urgent care or walk-in clinics and get help with how to find care.

For follow-up of issues from emergency department, or for non-urgent concerns in the future, you can use these available resources:

Walk-in Clinics

If you have a family doctor, please contact them first before visiting or making an appointment with a walk-in doctor. Your family doctor knows your health history best and can give you the right care.

Before booking an appointment or going to a clinic, we recommend checking the walk-in clinic's policies to make sure they can help with your specific needs (for example, some clinics may not cover women's health, referrals to specialists, or chronic issues, depending on the clinic/provider). Also, be sure to check the most up-to-date hours. "Google" hours are often not correct, so it's better to look on the clinic's website for the right information.

If you are new to Canada or don't have OHIP, we recommend calling the walk-in clinic before you go to make sure they accept interim federal health funding and/or RAMQ.

Please note, any information listed below is subject to change based on clinic and provider availability.

Walk-In Services

AppleTree Medical: Appointment-based and regular walk-in clinics with various locations across Ottawa. Please ensure you check the clinic availability and timeline each day, as there are occasional exclusions of services offered. There are also virtual clinic options.

*Be mindful when rostering to this clinic – you will be removed from HealthCare Connect, and you may not get longitudinal care with the same physician. Contact AppleTree for more information about their rostering process.

Virtual Care: There are also several available telemedicine/virtual clinics available to you. Some of these will charge a fee for service or a monthly payment model, and others are entirely covered by OHIP.

Be mindful when booking virtual visits – there are many presentations that require a physical examination, and other issues that may be more appropriate for virtual services. The services will often outline what they feel they are able to see you for in a virtual setting on their website. Your provider virtually may recommend an in-person visit.

It is important to note that when using virtual services based outside of Ottawa, some providers will not be familiar with available resources in our community (e.g. referrals, pharmacies, laboratories, counselling, etc.).
