The friendly host of Gotham Debunked, a podcast that analyzes and debunks the various rumors and conspiracy theories that come from the extremely online portion of Gotham City. Their most recent (and, to date, most successful) episode was dedicated to the fringe theory that the Batman is actually the billionaire playboy Bruce Wayne, and, somehow, they'd been able to snag Bruce himself for an interview. The new Patreon subscriptions have been more than enough to keep the lights on, so they've been able to dedicate the money from their...side hustle, of sorts, to helping local medical GoFundMes meet their goals.
