

Prologue 2

"We'll stand our ground.": This choice mainly changed how the scouts view Elizabeth and her moral code. It wouldn't have changed Jonas' fate or Lecia's view on Elizabeth.

Chapter One

1.1: [Final decision: Agree with Eris, letting it go]: Had this been chosen, the meeting set up by Joseph wouldn't have happened but Elizabeth's return wouldn't have been expected. It would have changed Elizabeth's stance over the whole chapter, giving her a more direct way of acting but also remaining hostile towards Lecia and Cyrus. In terms of character building, this choice would have been a major fall back for Elizabeth's character.

1.2: [Continue the search for work.]: This choice would have gotten Ethan inducted into the Onyx Organization. Either way he would have learned about the Voyagers. In this choice, he would eventually be faced with a meeting with Elizabeth and the scouts at the end of the chapter, causing the four Voyagers to be caught by the Onyx Organization.

1.3: [Order Elizabeth to Leave]: Elizabeth would have left the bunker immediately. Her fate wouldn't be known until the end of the chapter where it's revealed that the Onyx Organization was using her for information on the Voyagers. Despite being under the control of the Onyx Organization, the Voyagers are still hearing from her in the form of Final Product Four who reveals the fate of some lost Voyagers.

1.5: Joseph: Eris would have told about Joseph and eventually Cyrus would have joined in, giving his opinion on Joseph's leadership, encouraging Marshal and Filip to do the same.

1.5: Elizabeth: Eris would have been hesitant to tell about Elizabeth, but she would have opened up and told Ethan a bit about Elizabeth, including the details of her relationship with most members of the groups and she would have told Ethan more about Milo. She would also admit that she had regrets of how she handled raising Elizabeth and Milo.

1.5: Filip: Eris wouldn't have much to say about Filip, but Cyrus and Marshal would join the conversation and tell of what they knew about Filip. Filip himself wouldn't intervene, hinting at what Ethan finds out in the journal.

1.5: Marshal: Eris would admit that she doesn't know much about Marshal, causing Cyrus and Filip to start jokes about Marshal's life as an agent. Marshal himself will eventually join in on the joke and Eris will confess that it's not often that the scouts are there and things go well enough for all of them to sit and talk with each other.

1.7: [Put the journal back.]: By putting the journal back, Ethan wouldn't have learned about Filip's condition and he wouldn't have been given the chance to talk Elizabeth out of working.

1.8: [Encourage Elizabeth to take a break.]: Ethan would tell Elizabeth to take a break and after Ethan asking a few times, she would agree and gain the idea that nothing needed to be done and put everything off, eventually becoming a major procrastinator. Had this choice been chosen, Elizabeth wouldn't have gone into the city, 'Sara' wouldn't have been introduced until much later, and she wouldn't have had the conversation with Marshal. Finally, this choice would have brought on Elizabeth's and Cyrus's deaths in a future chapter.

1.11: [Disagree to the idea and risk questioning and being on the Organization radar for a bit.]: This choice would have caused more problems for Elizabeth and Marshal in the long run. Isaac wouldn't have forgotten about their denial and would later on use it against Marshal.

Chapter Two

2.1: "Send Elizabeth back but don't tell her about Milo.": Elizabeth would have returned when she was supposed to and would be able to tell something was going on, but Marshal would be extremely guilty over Milo and generally try and draw himself away from her after he returned. She wouldn't know about Milo for a long time to come, but she would be furious when she found out.

2.1: "Return with Elizabeth, don't tell her about Milo.": Elizabeth would have stayed an extra day and return with Marshal. Elizabeth would notice his anxiety and question him on it, but wouldn't think too much of it when he doesn't tell her anything. She would be beyond upset and feel quite betrayed by Marshal mainly when she did find out about Milo and knowing Marshal knew about him.

2.3: [Take it back.]: Marshal would have taken the ring back from Elizabeth, causing an unspoken boundary to form between the two and later Elizabeth to accuse Marshal of using her and Milo.

2.3.5: [Stay put, maybe another time.]: Ethan would have remained in the bunker, keeping the group from getting in trouble with Pierre, but also nearly causing Cyrus to lose his life in that 'another time' part.

2.4: [Give Marshal's coordinates.]: By giving away Marshal's coordinates, Filip would have crossed into Elizabeth's bad graces for some time to come. He would do this by having Pierre, Joseph, and himself go into the city and retrieve the two, ultimately keeping them from achieving their goal of getting Milo out. Alyssa wouldn't have been helped out of the city and Luke would have grown suspicious of the two because Marshal hadn't stayed there as long as he was supposed to.

2.4: [Rain check; go home after work.]: Alyssa would have denied the offer and Steven would tell her it was okay and that there would always be another time. Milo, however, would tell her she would regret the decision and not say anything about it. She would be confused and overall nervous about Milo's cryptic words, but would continue her daily routine. This choice would have caused Elizabeth and Marshal to attack Alyssa to get Milo back and not see the opportunity to help her, causing Elizabeth's death in a future part.

2.4: [Run away]: Ethan would have taken off and eventually run into Filip, Pierre, and Joseph himself, causing a small distraction and one of the men to go after him. Cyrus wouldn't have been able to defend himself with a smaller distraction and would have been killed for not cooperating. Pierre would have taken the life of the man that followed Ethan for 'justice.'

2.5: [Tell Filip to leave the lab, tell Elizabeth later on.]: Filip would have left the lab, making Cyrus stay in the lab overnight. He wouldn't have found out anything more, preventing Elizabeth from getting stabbed. She would have talked to him about the Organization and worked out a way to keep from manipulating Filip's memories again.

2.5: [Tell Filip to leave the lab, don't tell Elizabeth.]: Filip would have left the lab and Cyrus would have stayed overnight. Elizabeth would have no idea that Filip knew about the Organization until he tried and succeeded in blackmailing her.

2.5: [Let Filip stay, don't tell Elizabeth.]: Cyrus would have left Filip in the lab. Filip would have gathered more information against Elizabeth and killed her, rather than injuring her when confronting her about it. Milo would be quick to blame Cyrus because he knew what Filip had done in the lab.

2.7: [Console Elizabeth]: Cyrus would work with Marshal in consoling Elizabeth. She'd give all the details on her contract with Pierre, rather than the limited details that were given, and admit a fear of hers. After hearing the details of the contract, Cyrus and Marshal would both be upset with Pierre.

2.9: [Sneak up on the intruder]: While Kyle snuck up on the intruder, he would be caught off guard by two more people. He'd quickly recognize Milo but have doubts about who Marshal was, though he'd have no clue who Cyrus was. He'd try and keep the three at bay and only realize who Marshal was when Marshal suggests they find the book they came for, kill Kyle, and leave. Milo would be hesitant because he knew Kyle in recent years, leaving Cyrus to make the choice.

2.10: [Kill Kyle]: Regardless of the former choice, Marshal wouldn't be too torn up about Kyle's death and even go as far as to call it justice for what Kyle did to his wife. Milo would act a bit guilty, say that Marshal was being unfair towards Kyle, but eventually get over it. The choice would cause Cyrus distress but also would have caused Marshal to be more cooperative in the third chapter, giving the group an easier time. However, a final backstory would have revealed that Kyle wasn't the one who killed his wife after all and that Cyrus knew this much.
