

Avoid State #2688

If you're planning on transferring here for some reason, don't!

I'll provide a list and description of incidents, screenshots included where I managed to get a hold of some.

List of frequent offenders at the end with their ID.

DISCLAIMER: majority of this document details our state's issues with KOR. Not everyone at KOR is to blame, and they're not the only alliance with people at fault either. TUR also had a big part to play over the past couple of months.

Summary of the Main Culprit

They're the first ranked alliance and have therefore taken it upon themselves to assume leadership over the whole server. They will come up with rules/terms and expect you to follow them to the T. If you disagree? Get burned, along with the rest of your alliance members, your alliance headquarters and banners. If you break a rule? Get burned. If KOR breaks a rule? No, they didn't. If KOR attacks you? You started it! KOR has the right to defend itself! (Does that sound familiar? Lol)

Alliances Burned: TUR, ARB, PWR, AOW, 420.

Additional Context

KOR has a couple of other alliances they use to burn people: (AVG) Avengers and (ROK) Republic of Korea. One of the KOR members (Angel) is also heavily involved with the alliance (chy) AngelsWrath. Have a disagreement with chy and you'll have KOR burning you too.

And when I say heavily involved, I mean she will switch between KOR and chy so chy can take facilities from other alliances because they can't/struggle on their own :)

Chy will also defend KOR's actions so, if you end up here, maybe steer clear of them too. (But they're just a small, growing alliance looking to have fun!)

Beginning of KOR's Crusades

After the first castle battle, KOR was upset that they didn't win even though they were ranked first. TUR won instead. They felt ganged up on and while they were trying to talk it out, the game translation slipped up, as it frequently does. A member from KOR, hulk/Eros, threw a tantrum and zeroed someone, the R5 of ARB, over this misunderstanding and threatened to burn the rest of the alliance too. The only reason he didn't was because their R5 quit the game.

Little did we know this incident was a preview of what was to come.

Major Incident 1

A week before our first SvS, KOR burnt the alliance ranked second in power, TUR. During this, they declared they didn't care about SvS, NAP was dead and at least one member insulted Islam.

I don't remember many of the details, and I don't have any screenshots from this incident, but speak to anyone from 2688 and they'll tell you the same.

TUR retaliated by "teaming" with our opponent in SvS to stop KOR from getting the castle. KOR now justifies any unfairness to TUR with "TUR sold the server." In an attempt to make amends, TUR didn't participate in the following internal castle battle so KOR could have it, but that wasn't enough to appease them.

Also, shoutout Bananageddon. Thank you for trying to patch things up in our state during SvS.

Major Incident 2

This instance regards ARB (now called TRY). I mentioned earlier about chy having Angel take facilities for them. Well, after arguing about this multiple times, it got really bad once and quickly devolved into childish insults. Insults were also thrown in previous instances, but this time was worse.

Multiple people were involved from chy, ARB (3 people) and KOR. KOR decided to burn ARB headquarters, banners and some of the members because of three people. ARB had about 60 odd members at the time and were furnace level 24-28. Meanwhile, KOR was FC1 and above. The burning went on for 4 days, and I believe it stopped on the fourth day too.

The only reason they stopped was because ARB complied with their demands: Kick out the three offending members and their R5 had to post a public apology. If they hadn't done this, the burning would have continued for longer.

Earlier on the first day of ARB burning, KOR were also burning 420's banners.

Dishonourable mentions: chy also burned some of ARB's banners as well as BKT at the icefield HQ.

Unfortunately, I only got a hold of screenshots from days 3 and 4.

어차피 너희들이 하는말에 넘어간 사람들은 우리 연맹을 맹목적으로 공격성을 띤 집단으로 생각할거고, 그걸 딱히 우린 신경쓰지않을거야. 그냥 우리방식으로 해결할거야.

Look at this, everyone is mistaken, but once a broken glass plate is attached, it won't be easily restored.

Anyway, those who have fallen for what you guys are saying will view our alliance as a group that is blindly aggressive, and we won't particularly concern ourselves with that. We'll just handle it our way.

Aftermath: ARB basically disbanded with most members leaving for another alliance.

Major Incident 3

KOR burnt TUR again, starting one week before our second SvS and still ongoing as of writing this (23/07). KOR attempted to negotiate how the strongholds and fortresses should be shared between alliances. Essentially, KOR wanted it to be between the top 4 and TUR wanted to top 5. Because TUR disagreed, the burning started.

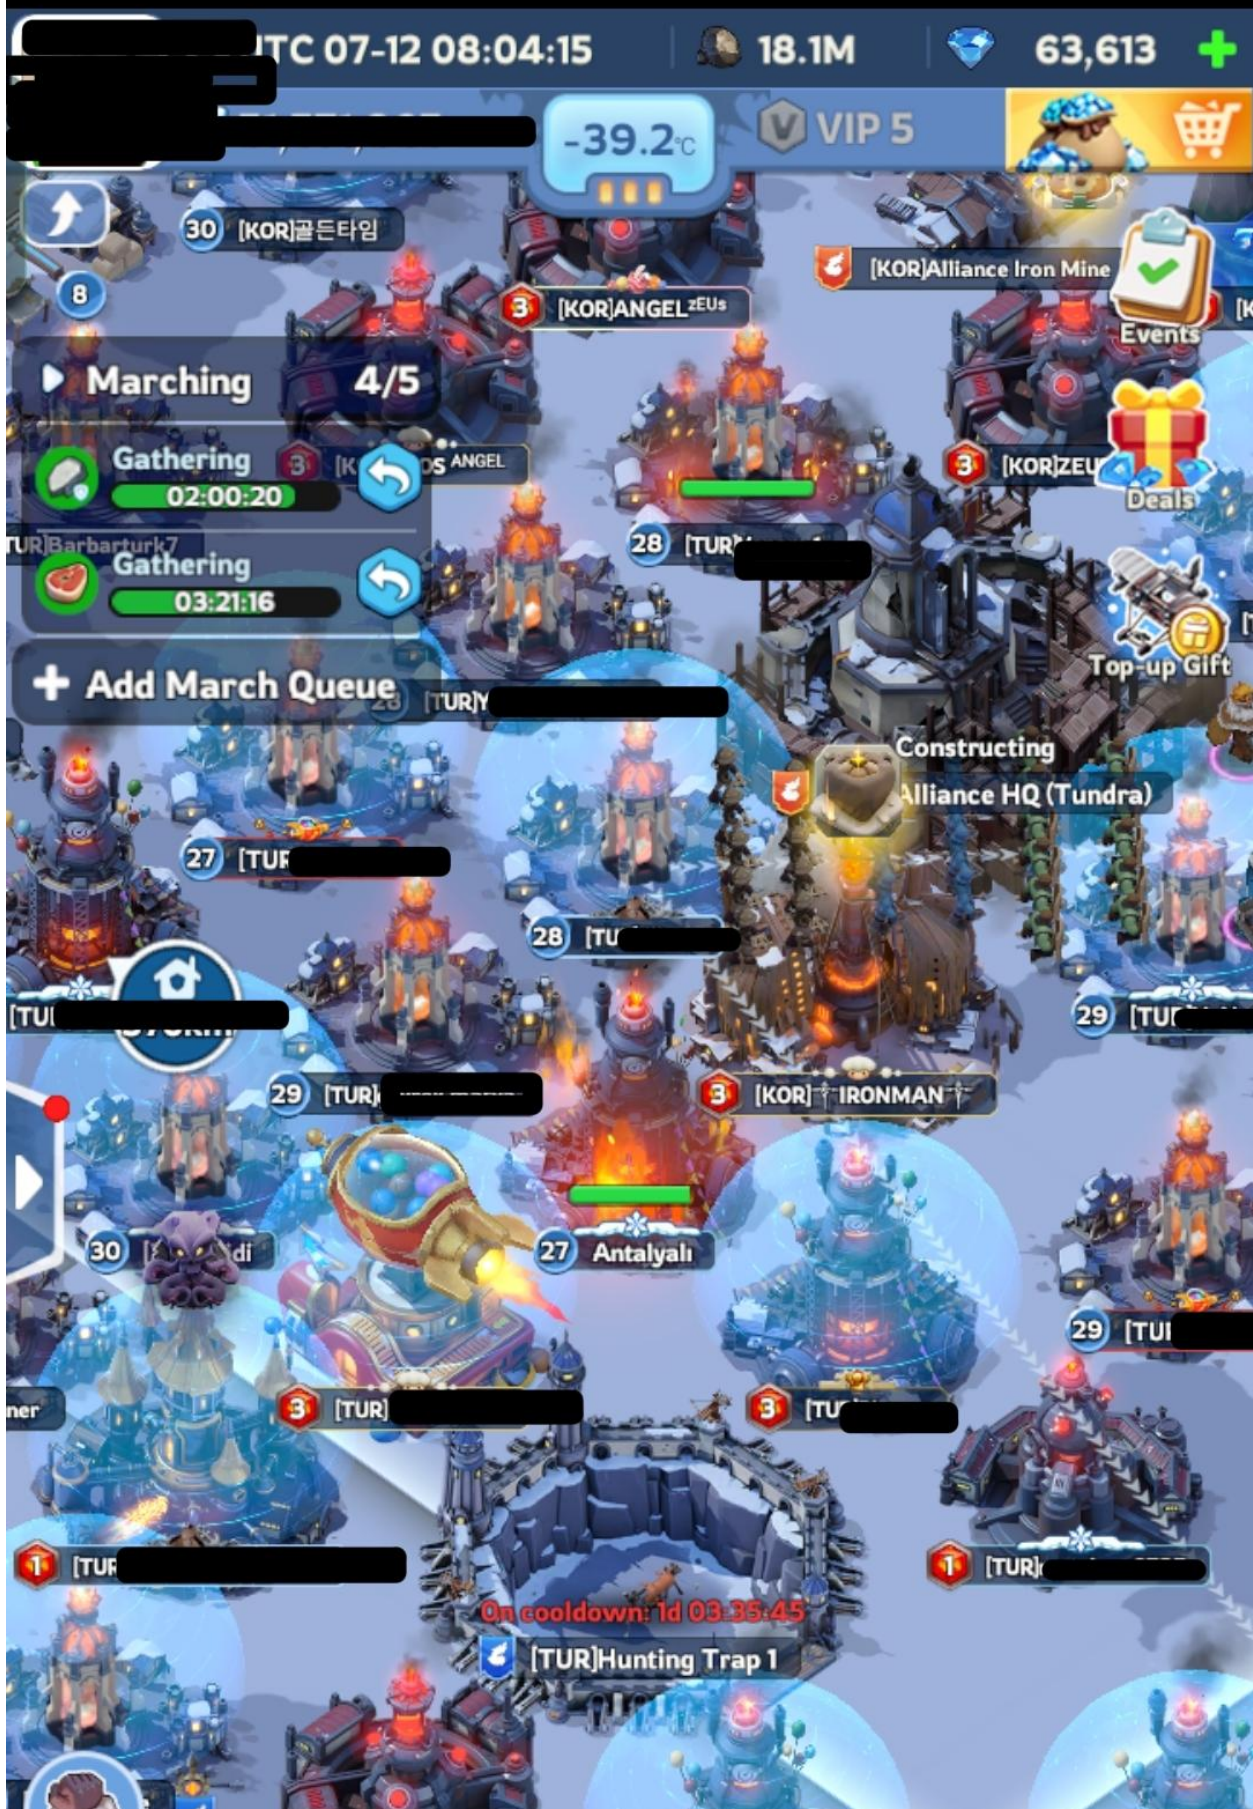

There were attempts at further negotiations before the burning. TUR wanted it in public, KOR wanted it private. Hulk eventually said something to the effect of "no more talking, I'll burn you instead."

If you hadn't noticed, Hulk loves to throw tantrums :)

That being said, insults were thrown on both sides and some could argue some of TUR added fuel to the fire. They retaliated by burning some of KOR's cities too, but only after their own cities were burnt.

Also, KOR mainly targeted low level cities while they're all FC1 and above lol.

KOR Vs. TUR

(17/08) Their issues are still not resolved. KOR gives them punishments when they're president and doesn't approve any minister application from TUR.

I'll give them one point though. There hasn't been any burning that I've seen recently.

Again, you can't put all the blame on KOR for whatever bickering is going on between these two alliances. TUR hasn't done much to resolve it either.

Other Problems:

Other problems exist. If the above doesn't deter you, then the knowledge that there are other issues aside from this should hammer that final nail in.

For example, TUR has been taking fortresses and strongholds that were allocated to specific fortresses. They're making it their purpose to mess with KOR in any way they can, not caring who it may inconvenience.
