

SL: Is AI recommending? %FIRSTNAME%

SL: The new visibility problem affecting you, %FIRSTNAME%

Hey %FIRSTNAME%

Quick question:

Is AI recommending your business?

Visibility is no longer controlled by Google alone.

Customers are now asking ChatGPT, Perplexity, and AI search tools...

for recommendations instead of clicking through websites.

It's like training for horse racing while everyone else switched to Formula 1.

Trusted by brands like Amazon, Uber, and Salesforce.

Single Grain has also helped brands achieve a 345% increase in AI referral traffic...

And has earned 400+ mentions across AI-powered search tools.

You'd be thinking:

"We are reputed enough to get recommended by AI"

"We have a good ranking in Google; the recommendation is sure"

No, it's not about your good ranking or reputation.

But about trust, authority, and clarity.

It's like being the best book in a library that the librarian never recommends...

It has a reputation, but no visibility.

And the worst part?

People don't even realise what's hurting their visibility.

And no, it's not your bad Google ranking anymore.

But the old school process you are following.

Process that Single Grain follows:

- Restructure content ->AI systems can easily understand and extract information.
- Build stronger authority ->increase AI trust.
- Create answer-focused content ->matches how people ask questions in AI tools.

AI is built on a compounding strategy...

More visibility for AI leads to a strong hold on its position of recommendations.

And every second...

Someone else is fixing his place...

while you sit at your desk, hiring the best SEO agency to rank as Google's #1 choice.

That ship has sailed, %FIRSTNAME%.

Click here so that AI can note down your company.

The spot fills up. Clock's running.

Sign off.

