

💗 Donothon Purpose

As many of you know, I recently made a huge life change and moved out of an abusive living situation to finally start building a safe and independent life for myself.

Before the move, many of you encouraged me to hold an emergency Donothon to help me get out. However, I was always strictly against fundraising while I was still in that situation. I never wanted anyone to feel like my safety depended on how much money we raised, or feel pressured to donate because they were worried about me.

I always wanted to wait until I was already safely moved out before doing anything like this. Now that I'm safe, stable, and the emergency is behind me, I feel much more comfortable letting you guys support me without that pressure attached.

So, this Donothon is my big "new chapter" event! It's a celebration of finally being somewhere safe, a way to build some financial security after such a massive life change, and an opportunity to invest back into my content and career with lots of fun goals and rewards along the way. (♡´„ □ `„)

♡ October 10th Update — My Cat Coconut

I was hesitant to add this, but given that my circumstances have changed since announcing the Donothon, I think it's okay this time

Shortly after moving, Coconut began experiencing serious chronic medical issues. Unfortunately, we still don't have a diagnosis, but her vet suspects an immune-related condition, and we're currently undergoing extensive testing to figure out what's causing her pain.

Between the move and her unexpected veterinary expenses, I've had to spend significantly more than I originally anticipated. What was supposed to be a period of rebuilding my savings has instead turned into a period of paying off credit card debt and managing a much tighter budget than I anticipated.

Please don't misunderstand: Coconut is being taken care of, and her treatment does NOT depend on donations. This isn't an emergency fundraiser, and I don't want anyone feeling responsible for her well-being. This is simply about easing some of the financial stress from these unexpected expenses and giving myself a little more breathing room!

That being said, the additional expenses have made the financial side of this Donothon a little more stressful than when I first announced it. I almost never ask for help, and I'm generally very uncomfortable doing so, but if you've ever considered supporting me financially and can comfortably afford it, now would genuinely be the most meaningful time to do so.

No pressure or obligations, ever! I just wanted to be honest about my situation and why this Donothon means more to me now than when I first announced it. ♡

⏰ Donothon Timeframe

The Donothon will run for 1 month, from October 3rd to November 3rd

During the Donothon, I will stream Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday for approximately 5 hours per day. (TLDR; Rest days are Tuesday and Thursday)

This is not a timer-based Donothon—donations will not add additional stream time. Instead, all donations made within the timeframe will contribute toward the Donothon goals and rewards!

The Donothon officially ends on the night of November 3rd, and any goals reached before then will be unlocked.

💸Incentives:

Incentives must be donated here as a standalone donation of the exact listed amount to claim that incentive. They do not stack with eachother.

For example: If you want all 3 incentives, you must make a $10 donation, a $30 donation and a 50$ donation separately. A single $90 donation would not count. Write the intent in your donation message!

The $30 Custom Gremling incentive can only be redeemed once per person. You may purchase the incentive on someone else's behalf so they can receive their own Custom Gremling! If doing so, please clearly state who you are redeeming the incentive for with your donation.

❌ No Refunds

Please make sure you are financially stable and only contribute money you can comfortably afford to spend.

All Donothon contributions are final. No refunds or chargebacks. By participating, you agree that all contributions are voluntary and final, and that you will not dispute or charge back a contribution in order to obtain a refund.

👤 Can I participate anonymously?

Because this is a large-scale event with many contributions to keep track of, anonymous and signed-out participation unfortunately cannot be counted toward the Donothon Leaderboard.

This includes anonymous Throne gifts, anonymous donations, and requests to have contributions tracked privately instead of appearing on the public leaderboard.

To participate, please make sure you use a consistent, identifiable username that you are comfortable having displayed publicly on the Donothon leaderboard.

💰 What Counts Toward the Donothon?

Only the following count toward the Donothon total. If it is not listed here, it does not count!

- Direct donations through my Streamlabs link
- Throne gifts
- Merch purchases

🛍️ For Merch Purchases:

To have your merch purchase added to your Donothon contribution, please email gremlilimanagement@gmail.com with:

Title: Donothon Merch Redemption
Include: Your username, order confirmation # number, and a screenshot of your order.

Merch purchases will not be counted automatically and must be submitted for redemption.

❓ Q&A

This section will be updated throughout the Donothon with answers to common questions! Please check here first to see if your question has already been answered before reaching out!

Q:What is the Top Donator “Surprise Gift”?
A:It wouldn’t be a surprise if I told you! The winner will find out privately after the Donothon is over!|„ • •)

Q:Can I hide my IRL name + Address on merch redemption email?
A:Yes lmao 😭

Leaderboard scores are updated once per day! Please be patient, as I manually compile and verify all contributions at the end of each day.
