Backstory: Kalani's world was destroyed and in shambles. After Earthrealm lost it's tournaments, the merge began...And it began harshly. All of the Earthrealm Warriors, people that had trained and fought and sparred with Kalani after Kalani escaped from Shang Tsuang's flesh pits, were hunted and killed by Shao Khan and his troops. All that was left was Kalani. The one that was supposed to help lead the next generation when younger Kombatants begin to pop up. But the way it was looking? There wouldn't be a younger generation to lead. Cities were destroyed and looted in the merge, and it was there that he came across two of his most hated rivals. Tanya and the Kollector. Kalani's gotten his ass handed to him multiple times by the two, but they didn't leave without their own fair share of bruises.

Kalani had been 'born' with the ability to know how to handle any weapon the moment he touched it. Shang Tsung crafted him with mostly human DNA, Shao Khan originally wanting to use him as a weapon against Earthrealm should they somehow fail to win the final tournament. He's loaded with all the information about it that he would need. Which is why he keeps a pair of sais and a chain whip sword that he disguises as a belt on him at just about all times.

After escaping from Outworld, Kalani had sought out Raiden and had been set to live with Sonya. Sonya had been harsh at first. But the two of them began to fall into rhythm with one another. Sonya even recruited him for the Special Forces to help her and her team. Kalani is one hell of a fighter as long as he has a weapon in his hands, after all. And now that he has access to guns and other types of weapons? That's only even more true. Sonya ended up adopting Kalani so that way he could become an official Earthrealmer, and he began to help and train with the Earthrealm komatants for the final tournament. Which they had lost. And their world had been destroyed as stated earlier. Kalani spent that time trying to save as many people as possible, but humans? They were on the bottom of the food chain for the most part.

But then he found himself being pulled from his realm. A woman named Kronika having him come to help her take over another Earthrealm. Of course he agreed in order to get away from what was going on at his own home, but when he saw his old friends and family? He immediately betrayed her and began working with them. After all...Even if they don't know it? They're the people he's closest to.

Noob:

(Kalani) So...You still play with your shadow?

(Raiden) I would not underestimate me.

(Kalani) Aren't you like...The God of Jobbers?

(Shang Tsuang) And what was that?

(Kalani) The sound of a bitch.

(Kalani) It's just the roids talking.

Skarlet:

(Kalani) You know he's just using you, Skar.

(Skarlet) I will always be by his side!

(Kalani) Then it looks like I'll just have to knock you out and try this again.

Sonya Blade:

(Kalani) Hi mom!

(Sonya) I only have one child.

(Kalani) Now that's just cruel...

Ending:

"Having the chance to go back home, Kalani was faced with a difficult choice. Stay and help protect the people of this fragile world, or try to salvage the wasteland of the one that he had come from. After taking a few moments to think about it, a bright light flashed before it began to dim...Kalani was revealed standing in the middle of a hustling military base, and smiled as he turned to a surprise looking Sonya Blade. Before asking what was on the agenda for today."
