- Minutes Approval
 - January Minutes were passed
- President's Remarks: Joyce Klein
 - Joyce thanked Kate Sullivan and everyone who participated in making the open house a success, Co-Chairs are Chairs of the fellowship and training committees and the incredible panel. We had a good turn out and a lot of interest so far in all the programs so we are in a very good place for admissions this year.
 - She was also very happy to announce that Sami is able to increase her hours and will now be with us for 30 hours a week from the 20-25. She will have longer days on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and extra hours on Monday and some on Wednesday. Her hard work and commitment to us and our programs has been amazing. And this extra time is very much needed and appreciated.
- Sami's Report
 - Budget Presentation in April
 - Will be emailing each committee about their old budget, what they spent, and to see changes are needed.
 - Suggested committees be thinking about the budgets at any meetings in the next month.
 - Let Sami know about other Committee Support you may need, like annual reminders

ADDENDUM:

Description: On-Site Coordinator for Events

The On-Site Coordinator for Events is a member of the Massachusetts Institute for Psychoanalysis responsible for supporting the coordination of in-person events at the institute. This is a very part-time job, reporting to the Administrative Director, and is to be present when the Director is not available or needs additional support. This role is occasional, but on average will be expected to attend four or five Saturday-morning programs or social events during the academic year. The hope is that this is a member who would already be at the program, but is willing to provide brand representation and simple support on behalf of MIP in addition to their own attendance and participation. They will welcome and support our presenters, guests, and members through excellent customer care and inclusion. The coordinator will be responsible for providing on-site support at events, including early arrival, logistics, participant sign-in and records, and communication with vendors and attendees. This person may also be expected to manage vendors, troubleshoot minor technical issues, and address any other needs that arise. Through communication with the MIP Director and president, they will evaluate the success of events and make recommendations for improvement based on their experiences. This role has the opportunity for growth into other responsibilities at MIP.

Suggested Annual Stipend: $400
