

FAQ:

What is this channel?

This channel seeks to provide daily highlight videos of the best of Northernlion's daily streams along with a condensed version of each day's stream. My goal is to cut out the fat from Northernlion's content for people who are trying to keep up with the community memes and make his content more accessible. Furthermore, some people may be turned off by certain games/segments and may miss out on what may become a recurring joke or just a great moment due to turning off the stream when he pivots to a new game or won't watch the Youtube videos. My content doesn't fully cut out gameplay but still includes the exceptional moments that anyone can appreciate even if you don't love the game with the majority of the content just being banter with detailed timestamps so you can skip ahead if a certain segment isn't to your liking. The reason I started this channel was just to go through all the food poisoning saga VODs to create a collection of all the banter related to that experience but it spiraled into making daily content and special supercuts as well, I decided to fill a niche that wasn't really being filled as unlike other streamers, NL can spend 5 to 30 minutes building up a bit which can't really be captured in a minute long clip, NL's own channel which is basically just VODs now has awkward cut off points and I feel like my edits create a more cohesive experience of watching the stream including moments in between games as well as stuff at the start or end of the stream that don't make it to Youtube. Furthermore, by fervently keeping up with community memes and basic news, I can add context to whatever NL may be talking about so the viewer doesn't have to go looking around. From time to time, I revisit older content as well and make supercuts that make older content more accessible as some people aren't willing to watch 30+ hours of switch sports content to see the true Pog moments.

Why don't you contact NL to officially work with him?

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-rT25XVvnm8>

Why are my comments not showing up?

I have the Youtube comment filter setup to hide certain comments for approval. This is to prevent all the bot messages which I go through and delete manually. This does include any comments with links but I try to check in regularly and approve those. I do read all comments and make sure to approve them, most where people are just being negative are honestly fine but I always get weirdos in videos with k8 in them relating to her race which I always remove.

How did you discover NL's content?

I'm quite a new viewer, only discovering him around late 2021 with his react court series. I've been making an effort to go back through older content but I have a decent understanding of the evolution of NL's content and familiarizing myself with NLSS members however there are definitely gaps in my knowledge that I rely on older viewers to fill in for me. Although I've only been watching for over a year now, I feel quite in tune with the current era of NL and his community.

NL rant that you agree the most with?

Him ranting about being in a routine is very relatable as I don't do much else but edit and work. His rant about not understanding dancing is insanely relatable because my parents are super social and outgoing while I'm an introverted mess so I always felt like something was wrong with me for not enjoying going to a club and drinking/dancing.